Gemini 7 Launch May Be Advanced

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The launching of the Gemini 7 astronauts may be advanced to as early as Dec. 2 if preparations continue to run smoothly, sources at the space center say.

The present target date for the start of the 14-day flight by astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. is Dec. 8. It is the scheduled first leg of the ambitious double Gemini shot.

The sources reported checkouts of the Titan 2 rocket and Gemini 7 have progressed so well that "any date between Dec. 2 and Dec. 8 might become our target, with the possible exception of Dec. 5, which is a Sunday."

Launchings are avoided on Sunday because of the great amount of overtime pay involved.

Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford will be launched nine days after Gemini 7. The two spacecraft are supposed to make one of my never close together and fly in formation.

(AP) — held a similar session that ran through most of the night. Reports the two had conferred by telephone and would issue a joint statement and would issue a joint statement.

The Chilean Foreign Ministry said the fighting broke out when Chilean police were attacked following an agreement to withdraw from a ranch where they had raised the Chilean flag. The ministry said about 50 policemen were in the area but only 10 were involved in the fighting with 15 Argentines.

The Argentine Foreign Ministry charged the Chileans opened fire. They said the Argentine troops were advancing toward the ranch because the Chileans had not met a deadline to leave by Friday.

Incidents along that part of the poorly marked, sparsely populated border have created friction between the two countries for years.

Appleton Man Shot in Holdup In Chicago

Former Policeman Apparently Tried To Disarm Thief

An Appleton truck driver and former city policeman was shot and killed Sunday night when he apparently attempted to disarm a person or persons during a robbery at a suburban Chicago truck stop.

The victim was Harry Ganzen, 54, 2117 N. Drew St., operator of Northland Trucking Co. He was shot in the head with a .25 caliber pistol and then was robbed. William Ingersoll, 18, Chicago, attendant at the truck stop and service station at Franklin Park, Ill., also was shot and is listed in critical condition.

Ganzen, an Appleton policeman from February 1947 to August 1952, was shot about 7 p.m. Sunday shortly after he delivered a truckload of cabbage to a Chicago firm from the Hans Kuehne farm, Seymour.

Found by Trucker

Chicago authorities told Appleton police Ganzen apparently intended to spend the night at Trucker's Paradise, which was about four blocks from where he unloaded the cabbage. Ganzen and the station attendant were forced to the rear of the service station by the person or persons intending to rob the place, Chicago police said.

The victims were found by another trucker who searched the station after he did not get service when he stopped. Ganzen was alive when found, but died about two hours later. Ingersoll was found in a washroom at the station.

From $400 to $550 was missing from the station cash register and both Ganzen's and Ingersoll's wallets were gone, Chicago police said. It was not known how much money Ganzen was carrying.

St. Louis Run

Ganzen's wife, Doris, told local authorities her husband had arrived home from a truck run to St. Louis Saturday. He loaded his truck at the Kuehne farm Saturday and left about 7 a.m. Sunday for Certified Foods Co., Chicago, with the cabbage. Ganzen operated his truck and semi-trailer on a lease basis.

Surviving Ganzen are his wife; a son, Gary, 14, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Orville Mundi of Milwaukee and Mrs. Peter Berens, 311 Park St., Kaukauna; two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Lom, 214 Kamps St., Kimberly, and Mrs. Gordon Plantikow, 213 S. Lincoln St., Kimberly. A brother living in California also survives.

Funeral arrangements were pending at the Brettschneider-Tretin Funeral Home.

Johnson Signs Education Bill On Campus of Alma Mater

$2.6 Billion Measure Offers Schooling to 140,000 More

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — grants — ranging from $200 to $1,000 a year.

President Johnson flew to his old college here today to sign a $2.6-billion education bill he said will put 140,000 more students in college next year with federal help.

Johnson, returning to the campus of Southwest Texas State College where he received his degree in 1930 — after a brief fling as a school dropout — offered this assessment of the broad new legislation:

"It means that a high school senior anywhere in this country can apply to any college or university in the U.S. — and not be turned away because his family is poor."

Asserting that "education is no longer a luxury but a necessity," Johnson said in a speech prepared for the outdoor bill-signing ceremony:

Reap Rewards
"In the next school year alone, 140,000 young men and women will be enrolled in college who, but for the provisions of this bill, would never have gone past high school. We will reap the rewards of their wisdom, citizenship and greater productivity for decades to come."

Among other things, the legislation provides for federally financed scholarships — called "educational opportunity

Johnson said he wanted to emphasize "that the federal government intends to be a partner, not a boss," in education, and has "neither the wish nor the power to dictate."

Then he said that the "new adventure in learning" which he foresaw in the legal language of the new legislation had special meaning for him.

He recalled: "It was here on this campus . . . the seeds were planted from which grew my firm conviction that for the individual, education is the path to

On Rhodesian Independence

Wilson Proposes Another Meeting

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has proposed another meeting with Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith for an attempt to solve the new crisis over Smith's drive for independence.

Wilson suggested that the two meet on the Mediterranean island of Malta.

There was no immediate indication what Smith's response would be. He was expected to meet with his Cabinet today.

The two leaders, meeting in only the outstanding question Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, agreed Oct. 30 to let a three-man royal commission try to action to be taken after they seek a way out of the independence deadlock. Over the week-end, the agreement began to fall apart.

Closed Door
Smith charged that the British prime minister's refusal to meet was bound by the findings of the royal commission had "initially closed the door" to a negotiated settlement.

The Rhodesian leader also declared a state of emergency in the central African colony, causing tears in London that Smith was preparing to declare unilateral independence to preserve white rule.

The story also said they have pushed the organization's strength to record proportions in Montgomery, the capital; Mobile, on the Gulf coast, and Huntsville, the home of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's George C. Marshall Spaceflight Center.

Alabama, where the Birch Society has shown strong recent growth, now ranks first behind Florida and Texas in the organization's Southern expansion.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam and two rescue helicopters Saturday — U.S. planes blasted another missile site in North Viet.

One Navy jet was knocked down in an attack on a missile the Soviet-built air defense system 35 miles east of Hanoi Saturday in four days. But the series Saturday and another was lost Sunday of attacks, which destroyed two sites and damaged five others, took a toll of five U.S. planes and two helicopters, with six American airmen listed as missing in enemy territory.

On the ground in South Viet Nam, troops of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Division shattered a strong Viet Cong force manning a well-fortified jungle position north of Saigon. U.S. officials said they counted 110 enemy bodies and were still counting. The Viet Cong force is believed to have abandoned the position.

Three Burlington residents, including two teen-agers, were also among the weekend victims. Vernon E. Furlong and Donald Dorrington, both 18, of Burlington, were killed early Sunday when Furlong's car missed a Highway 83 curve north of Burlington and smashed into a tree in fog which sheriff's deputies said limited visibility to 75 feet.

NEW YORK (AP) — The John Birch Society boasts of more than 100 chapters in Birmingham, Ala., and its suburbs, the New York Times said today in a story from Birmingham.

Hollywood Glitters For Royal Couple

By DORIS KLEIN
LOS ANGELES (AP) — After dancing until 2 a.m. today at a glittering Hollywood party, Princess Margaret arises early to attend to royal chores and see where movies are made.

Relaxed and gay, the fun-loving princess twirled around the floor Sunday night with such partners as Fred Astaire, Gene Kelly and Danny Kaye.

She'll meet more of Hollywood's royalty tonight at the big World Adoption International Fund ball at the Hollywood Palladium after promoting British goods at a department store and touring university studios.

Judy Garland, Kaye and Kelly sang and danced a little soft shoe. Frank Sinatra, attending with Mia Farrow, declined to sing, explaining he thought everyone should just relax and have a good time.

Star-Studded Party

More than 100 of Hollywood's top stars attended the party, given by Sharmen Douglas, the princess' old friend and daughter of a former ambassador to Great Britain. Lewis Douglas, Sharmen's one-time Hollywood publicist, is accompanying the princess on her tour.

The princess' husband, Lord Snowdon, danced too — with actor Steve McQueen's wife, Neile Adams, and actress Asa Maynor.

Sitting at the head table with the Snowdons were Gregory Peck and his wife, Veronique.

Warren Beatty, comedian Milton Berle and his wife Ruth, and British star Julie Andrews, with director Mike Nichols.

Elizabeth Taylor, in a white and gold Balenciaga gown, and husband Richard Burton, rode up to the Bistrot restaurant in an old London taxicab, owned by Elizabeth's secretary, Richard Hanley. They were among the first to arrive and the first to leave — even before the royal pair departed.

Frank Sinatra and Miss Farrow left early, too, through the kitchen door.

It's against royal protocol to leave before the princess, but an aide explained the princess understood that the actors had to go to work early in the morning.

Stayed Late

Another early arrival, who stayed late, was Rosalind Russell, in a green satin Galanos gown accompanied by her husband, producer Frederick Brisson.

The music played by a trio led by society bandleader Bernie Richards, ranged from a sedate fox-trot to a wild Watusi. The princess dancing with Astaire when a Watusi began, sat down until it was over.

As star after star entered the exclusive restaurant, a knot of about 500 spectators standing outside applauded.

The biggest hand went to the Snowdons.

The princess was gown by British designer Norman Hartnell in a cream silk, high-necked sleeveless gown embroidered with small gold and silver flowers. A massive diamond and gold necklace encircled her throat and white mink jacket draped her shoulders.

"Her husband's better looking than some of the movie stars," said one woman spectator of the sandy-haired, smiling Lord Snowdon.

Menu

The princess went through the mirrored candlelit room chatting with guests after dinner.

The tables were decorated with baskets of autumn fruit. The menu included seafood hors d'oeuvres, cold cucumber soup, filet of beef, spring vegetables, salad, cheese, a dessert called orange surprise and California white wine and French red wine.

Sharmen, who wore a white moire designed by Arnold Scaasi, was escorted by actor Roddy McDowall.

The royal pair drove up in a Rolls Royce, but so did at least 10 movie star couples, some of them in sedans more spectacular than the Snowdons'.

There's a fresh new look to underpinnings that is definitely related to the rising of hemlines. It's not altogether due to the fact that foundations are more likely to be seen nowadays when one climbs onto a bus, or dances the frug. partner. The thought grew out of a well-filled glass a few weeks ago in a small bridge club in Paris.

West led the ten of spades, and my partner tried a finesse with dummy's queen. East took the king of spades and returned the queen of diamonds to the ace. My partner drew trumps and then tried the club finesse.

East took the king of clubs and defeated the contract with two diamond tricks.

"It is not my night," my partner complained. "Two finesses, and they both failed."

"A great pity," I agreed. "I have partners in the United States who are just as unlucky."

Earns a Drink My tone was sympathetic, and my partner was soothed, but my good friend Jose Le Dentu chuckled at the irony and refilled my glass. The brilliant author of the new "Bridge a la Une," has had his own share of unlucky partners.

The point was that my partner created his own bad luck when he took the spade finesse at the first trick. The contract is unbeatable if he wins the first trick with the ace of spades.

South draws trumps with the ace and queen and then leads the queen of clubs for a finesse. East can take the black kings and lead a diamond, but South still has the ace of diamonds. He takes the first diamond, cashes the jack of clubs, and gets to dummy with the king of hearts to discard a diamond on the ace of clubs.

Twin Beds Solved Husband's Problem of Vivid Dreams

BY ANN LANDERS DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was struck by the letter from the woman whose husband had life-like dreams and limped around all day after dreaming he had injured his foot. To those who haven't had first-hand experience the letter probably sounded funny.

But it isn't funny, Ann. My father had life-like dreams and for years mother put up with a series of strange experiences which resulted in many sleepless nights.

One night Dad dreamed he was in a supermarket. He got out of bed, grabbed the chair by the wooden arms, pushed it around the room, collected the alarm clock, books and magazines from the bedside table and the framed pictures from the dresser. He even took money from his wallet to pay for the "purchases."

Dad has kicked himself out of bed playing football and pulled down the drapes while blocking a pass. Once he injured his hand striking an imaginary intruder. (He hit the wall.) The day he hit mother was the day she ordered twin beds. Strange-ly enough he hasn't done much real-life dreaming since. Maybe this could be the solution for the wife who wrote to you. Please pass it on.—Liz

Dear Liz: The experts tell us that dreams are often triggered by a noise or because one person's sleep is disturbed by his partner. The fact that twin beds helped solve your mother's problem supports this theory. Consider the word passed — and I hope it helps.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of a boss's wife who volunteers to do club work and then hands the job over to her husband's secretary? I have served on numerous committees as a volunteer. I've written hundreds of letters on my own typewriter, and used my own stationery and stamps. I've made dozens of telephone calls on my own time because I wanted to make a personal contribution to the causes I believe in.

Don't you feel it is fraudulent to accept a job and then turn it over to someone else?—Horse Behind the Scene

Dear Horse: Are you doing Madam's club work on your boss's time? If so, (and nothing in your letter indicates otherwise) your complaint is not justifiable.

Mrs. Doe makes a contribution by volunteering to do a job even though her husband is paying to get it done. Obviously, Mrs. Doe will not experience the satisfaction of doing it herself but presumably this does not matter to her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 20 years old, a high school graduate and I have one more year of Navy duty.

I went steady before I joined up. Mae and I were both in high school. She told me I was the first boy she had ever been intimate with but I never believed her.

I haven't seen Mae for over a year. She didn't write for a long time, then six weeks ago I got eight letters from her all at once. She is pregnant and wants me to marry her by mail so the bridegroom-baby will have a name. This baby can't be mine and we both know it. Mae says since I am the guy who started her on sex I owe her marriage. She says we can get divorced later if I want to.

My folks know about this and have told me to make my own decision. I need your help —Sailor At Sea In More Ways Than One

Dear Sailor: You need this marriage like you need a hole in your hull. The word from here is no, no, no!

If you have trouble getting along with your parents, if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1965)

The Steps of California's Carmel Mission Basilica were filled with 18 children who viewed the wedding of their parents, Helen North and Frank Beardsley, Sept. 9, 1961. The couple holds Teresa, the youngest child at the wedding. Since then, they have had two more children which brings the family total to 20. Three older boys have left for college and the Marine Corps.

Success Result of Team Work

BY KELLY SMITH

NEW YORK (AP) — The trim brunette, neatly attired in brown knit, arrived exhausted after a day in Philadelphia. Homesick for California, she went to her hotel room, slipped on a robe and picked up the telephone to call the children:

Rosemary, Louise, Colleen,

Nicky, Thomas, Susan, Janet, Mary, Germaine, Jean, Veronica, Phillip, Gerald, Joseph, Teresa, Joan and Helen.

Helen Beardsley is the mother of 20, the oldest 21 and the youngest 18 months.

She doesn't look it, act it or talk it. Only by specific questions would you know she cooks breakfast for 20 at 5:45 a.m., orders 35 loaves of bread a week, pays a monthly grocery bill around $1,000, and is an author.

It was to promote her book, "Who Gets the Drumstick?" that she visited Philadelphia and New York recently.

Lest A Widow

Five years ago Helen Beardsley was heartbroken and saddened, a widow with eight young children. Then came fate, a handsome Irishman named Frank, a widower with 10 children of his own.

Their wedding combining families of 18 children was something of a nationwide fairy tale. Since, the Beardsleys have had two more babies of their own, and three older boys have left for college and the Marines.

She squelches critics.

"We have much at our advantage having so many. What goes for one, goes for all. That way, a child is never alone in anything. He doesn't feel picked on or singled out.

"When I say to children underfoot, 'let's move,' the children think, 'she means us,' not 'she means me.'"

"We have problems and we have spat among the children, but we can honestly say they don't fight.

"They're normal. We have lazy ones and eager ones. They are all different. The mood of our home changes as each grows."

The Beardsleys run an organized home in Carmel, Calif., where teams of children take part in the cooking, cleaning, gardening, and entertaining.

"Team A washes the dishes on Monday and Team B does it on Tuesday, and so on," says their pretty mother. "I check over the house after they've all left for school.

"I keep a paper in my apron and write notes if someone left soiled socks on the floor or a skirt on a chair. At the end of the day, I remind them.

"Our children are no different from anyone else's. If I start picking up after them, they'll let me. Usually, 75 per cent of the housework is done by the time they've all left for school."

Helen Beardsley is understandably proud of her brood. And the children are proud of her.

Greatest Gift

Among the greatest gifts a parent can offer a child in a small family or large family, she says, is conversation, the ability to communicate and talk things out.

"We talk to the children a great deal. People often ask how we manage to make each feel individually important. Many ways, really. Most of all, we talk."

And there's another gift that shows in Helen Beardsley's twinkling blue eyes and comes through clearly in her book: her faith in God.

"Everyone has to have a faith. You have to believe that there's a reason for living. The important thing in a family is the underlying atmosphere."

Neighbors say the Beardsleys have it.

Helen Beardsley has written the story of her widowhood with eight children and her marriage to Frank Beardsley, a widower with 10 children, in the story, "Who Gets the Drumstick?"

Make a Beach Ball Bird to Put on Display in Your Den

BY CAPPY DICK

Probably you have never heard of a Beach Ball Bird, but you can make one for display in your own room at home by following today's fun-project directions.

You will need a beach ball, a cone-shaped paper drinking cup, a red ball of solid rubber, a black marking pen, some fast-drying glue and several pieces of dead tree branch.

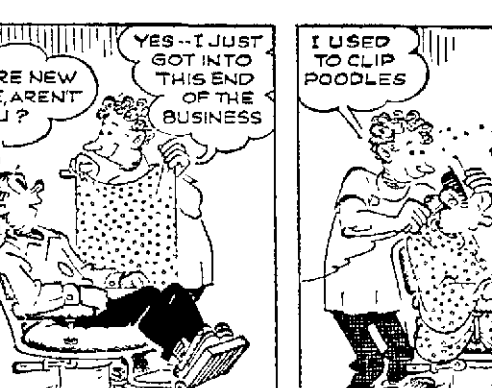

The assembled bird is shown in the adjoining illustration.

Draw a black line on opposite sides of the paper cup to represent the upper and lower parts of the bird's beak, then glue the cone-shape cup to the ball.

For eyes, cut the red rubber ball in half (it should be about an inch and a half in diameter) and glue the halves to the beach ball. Around each piece draw a black circle with the marking pen.

Make the bird's legs from pieces of tree branch about half an inch thick. Before attaching them to the ball, glue small

Detroit Downs Starr for 11 Losses in Beating Packers

Double Lateral Produces TD For Minnesota

MINNEAPOLIS ST. PAUL (AP) — A dazzling impromptu double lateral from quarterback to center to running back produced the clinching touchdown Sunday as Minnesota spilled Los Angeles 24-13 and kept pace in the National Football League's Western Division race.

The Vikings, leading 17-7, capped their attack in the fourth quarter on a 12-yard touchdown play that involved three ball carriers and about 30 yards actual running.

Fran Tarkenton faded to pass, then scrambled up to the middle. Surrounded at the five, Tarkenton tossed a lateral to center Mick Tingelhoff. The big lineman flipped the ball back to Bill Brown at the 11 and Brown, raced down the left side to score.

Mounted Early Lead Minnesota mounted an early 10-0 lead on a field goal by Fred Cox and a 13-yard touchdown pass from Tarkenton to Paul Flatley. The Rams' Paul Mun-

Everybody's Too Tight, Packers Steve Wright Declares After Defeat

As Tough a Pass Rush I've Ever Faced, Starr Says

BY LEE REMMEL Post-Crescent News Service GREEN BAY — "If we knew the story, we'd be all right ... but sooner or later, we've got to start clicking."

Towering Steve Wright, minus a chunk of skin across the bridge of his nose, was, like most of his Packer colleagues and thousands of the puzzled faithful, wrestling with Sunday's universal Lambeau Field question, "What happened to the offensive line?"

Concerned over the attacking unit's mistreatment at Detroit hands, but not shell-shocked, Wright declared, "You can't let it get to you — and that's what is happening. Everybody's too tight, too worried. I think we're trying too hard — at least I feel that's what I'm doing."

"After all," the 6-foot-6 University of Alabama alumnus pointed out, "these are the same people who have won championships."

"I think we just have to go out there with abandon — we've got what it takes, if we can just get it to jell."

Another sophomore, center Ken Bowman, sadly shook his head as he strove to analyze the problem. "I don't know what the trouble was ... I don't even know where they came from. You'd look up and there was nobody there, the look again and somebody was past you."

Bart Starr, the victim of that inexplicable pass protection breakdown, glumly admitted, "It was as tough a pass rush as I have ever faced — they did a real good job."

Fortunately, however, only his pride had been hurt. The soft-spoken field general, injured in Chicago a week earlier, assured, "No, I didn't get hurt or re-injured anything ... I feel fine."

Across the room, a somber Paul Hornung explaining how his fourth quarter pass came to be intercepted, setting up Detroit's winning field goal.

"Marv Fleming was wide open on the play," Paul said. "I know I was going to be rushed, and I shouldn't have thrown, but Marv was wide open and if I could have hit him, we would have had better field position."

"It was an option play and I was going to run it if nobody was open ... I just overthrew it."

Eljah Pitts, tackled on the Packers' six yard line on his abortive return of Detroit's fourth quarter kickoff, said he had elected to run from the end zone as a calculated risk.

I know I could have downed the ball," Eljah confided in a low voice, "but I knew we had everything we could get — and sometimes you get a break."

Joe Schmidt, battle-scarred captain of the marauding Detroit defense, unhesitatingly termed it "the best game we've played" since he joined the Lion resistance in 1953.

Schmidt, with surgical souvenirs from two operations standing out in bold relief on his square shoulders, said simply, "They knew what they wanted to do, and they did it ... we had 'em beat in Detroit at the half, then lost it on three."

defensive mistakes in the second."

Had he been surprised at the authority with which Sunday's project had been accomplished? "I knew we could get in," Schmidt replied, "but I didn't think we could dominate 'em like we did."

Another muscular member of the Detroit defensive unit, bespectacled Alex Karras was equally impressed with the performance. "I think we played a better ball game today than we did when we beat the Packers in Detroit on Thanksgiving Day in '62," he declared. "I think we all did a better job — I think the statistics will show it, too."

Did he think this Packer team was as good as the one the Lions manhandled in '62? "Oh, yes," Karras said. "I think they are as tough."

"We felt if we could stop their running game, we had a chance to beat 'em," he explained. "That's what we tried to do, and we did it in the first half, so they had to throw a little bit in the second."

"We also feel if Starr can't throw quick, we can rush him. And he had to pump a couple of times, so we got to him. To make this work, backs have to play real tight on the receivers to give us a chance to rush. And that's what they did all day today."

Brewer Edges Goalby in 'Hawaiian'

HONOLULU (AP) — The Tourist Bureau will have no trouble in the future selling Gay Brewer on the advantages of a Hawaiian vacation.

The 33-year-old pudgy golf pro from Dallas came to the Islands 10 days in advance of the $60,300 Hawaiian Open and combed the beaches for nine of them.

"I forgot about golf," he said. "There may be some sort of lesson there, since Brewer — who never led the tournament once until it was all over — captured the $9,000 first prize in a sudden-death playoff with Bob Goalby, with a birdie 3 on the first extra hole. Both scored 281 over 72 holes."

The extra hole was no contest. Brewer drove down the middle and hit a nine iron three feet away. Goalby pulled his drive and hit a coconut tree with a hollow "plunk" on his second. His third was short, and just missed chipping in.

Marlene Hagge Captures Fourth Tourney of Year

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Marlene Hagge captured her fourth golf tournament of the year Saturday when she bagged the $10,000 Tall City Open.

The little gal from Florida shot a four under par 67 in the third and final round of the 54-hole tournament to come from three strokes back for a one-stroke victory over Kathy Whitworth, the year's leading money-winner.

Mrs Hagge wound up with 206, which was one stroke under the tournament record of 207 set by Mickey Wright last year.

Carol Mann won third place with 210 and Sandra McLinton, the first round leader, finished fourth with 212.

These Two Photos pretty well indicate what happened at Lambeau Field Sunday when Detroit stopped Green Bay, 12-7. They show two of the 11 times that Packer Quarterback Bart Starr was hit for losses. In the upper photo the Lions' Roger Brown has just dumped Starr for a safety late in the fourth period. The lower picture shows Alex Karras (71) wrapping up Starr for a loss earlier in the game. GREEN BAY — The Packer offense collapsed again ... in the second half.

It was 7-7 at halftime at Lambeau Field Sunday and you couldn't help but hark back to Detroit Oct. 17 when the Packers were behind, 21-36, at the half. The Bays stormed back with 28 points to win, 31-21.

The Lions must have thought of that game, too, because they not only held the Packers scoreless in the second half they stopped 'em with a minus 58 total yards and never permitted them beyond midfield.

The Packers were also blanked in the second half at Chicago a week ago and have now scored but three touchdowns, all by Jim Taylor, in their last three games — all since the big comeback in Detroit.

The 12-7 loss Sunday knocked the Packers into second place in the Western Division race, while the Colts took over the lead — thanks to their victory over the Bears. The Bays next face the Rams in Milwaukee.

The Packers and Lions scored back to back TDs in the second quarter.

Green Bay marched 80 yards in 11 plays, with Taylor crashing over from a yard out, for a 7-0 lead. Tom Watkins ran the ensuing kickoff back 62 yards to the Packer 35, and the Lions tied it up in six plays from there, with Joe Don Looney smashing the last yard just before the half.

The TD drive was the last time the Packers got into Lion territory.

The Lion defense manhandled the Packers' offensive line and threw Bart Starr nine times for 93 yards in losses — plus two points — in the second half.

The first three times Green Bay had the ball in the second half Starr was dumped 15, 12 and 7 yards on successive plays.

About the only hope the Packers had was their staunch defense, and this unit was even victimized by the offense. Paul Hornung's option pass was intercepted in the fourth quarter on the Packer 21 and the Lions turned it into a 13-yard field goal for a 10-7 lead with 4:51 left.

The Bays had the ball for just one play after that ... and it was fatal. Starr was tackled in the end zone by Roger Brown for a safety.

Starr was thrown 11 times for minus 109 yards — the worst treatment he has ever received ... and the Packers finished up with 68 offensive yards for the afternoon — a minus 2 passing and 70 rushing.

Starr had a gross of 107 yards on nine completions in 14 attempts, with Carroll Dale and Boyd Dowler each catching three. Taylor finished up with 50 yards rushing but 43 of it came in the first half.

The defense, led by Willie Davis, held the Lions to seven first downs (the Bays had eight) and 180 total yards, including 52 passing. The Lions never made a concerted threat all day.

Green Bay intercepted three passes — Willie Wood, Tommy Crutcher and Davis, who grabbed the first in his career. Willie had dropped back while the blitz was on and stole a George Izo pass right in front of Ron Kramer. The Bays also picked up a Lion fumble by Hank Jordan.

Bobby Hull Leads Chicago To 9-0 Romp

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Bobby Hull is tearing the National Hockey League apart at the goalposts and his Chicago teammates are picking up most of the pieces.

Hull stepped up his furious scoring pace with a three-goal spree against Toronto Sunday night but the blond bomber's second hat trick of the season merely provided the frosting on a 9-0 humiliation of the shaken Maple Leafs.

Five other Black Hawk gunners punished Toronto goalie Terry Sawchuk in the first period before Hull pulled the trigger. When it was over, Chicago had protected its share of the league lead and Hull had boosted his six-game goal harvest to 11.

By adding a pair of assists, Hull also captured the point-scoring lead with a total of 17 and bettered Bill Mosienko's Chicago career record of 549 points by five. Mosienko rolled up 549 points in 13 seasons with the Hawks. Hull is in his ninth year with Chicago.

Bobby Rousseau of Montreal fell two points behind Hull in the current scoring derby despite a goal and assist in the Canadiens' 3-2 victory over Boston. Bob Nevin's two goals paced New York to a 3-2 decision over Detroit in Sunday's other game.

Halas Moans Over Officiating After 26-21 Loss to Colts

Victory Puts Baltimore in Sole Possession of First Place

By JOE MOOSHIL CHICAGO (AP) — The Baltimore Colts are in sole possession of first place in the Western Division of the National Football League because of the sure fingers of end Ray Berry.

But the Chicago Bears, who dropped a 26-21 decision to the Colts Sunday, aren't so sure of Berry's sure fingers.

In fact, George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, is going to file a report on the officiating in the game to League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

"The calls in the second quarter were a comedy of errors," moaned Halas. "I'm glad Mark Duncan (head of league officials) was here to see it himself because I'm going to send a report to Rozelle with a carbon copy to Duncan."

Muscle Spasm

The Colts broke up a defensive battle with 10 points in the second quarter for a 10-0 halftime lead. They made it 17-0 in the third quarter when Johnny Unitas fired his second touchdown pass, a 49-yarder to Tony Lorick. Unitas, suffering from a muscle spasm in his back, left the game at this point and then the Bears turned on their corner.

The Bears scored a touchdown on a 19-yard pass from Rudy Bukich to Jimmy Jones to make the score 17-7 but the Colts came right back with a score on a disputed 13-yard pass from young Gary Cuozzo to Berry.

At the time it didn't seem to make much difference, although Berry appeared to bobble the ball and then fall out of the end zone without the ball in his possession.

However, back judge Tom Kelleher ruled Berry had momentary possession and the Colts were awarded a touch-down which ultimately offset two Chicago scores in the final period to give Baltimore the victory and the league lead.

"I was the most surprised guy in the place when they called it the way they called it," said Berry. "But after I thought about it, I was sure they couldn't have called it any other way."

Had Possession

"Dave Whitsett hit the ball first and then it went into the air. I grabbed it and then Whitsett hit it out of my hands. The mere fact that he hit it out of my hands would prove I had possession and, according to the rules, a touchdown."

"I've been in this league 11

Shinnick Lost To Baltimore For Season

Breaks Arm Against Bears; Units on Doubtful List

BALTIMORE (AP) — Linebacker Don Shinnick of the Baltimore Colts has a broken right arm and is apparently out of action for the remainder of the National Football League season.

Authorities at Union Memorial Hospital said Sunday night the veteran Colt defender was released after the arm was put in a cast.

The injury is similar to a pre-season break received by center Dick Syzmanski, who wore the cast for four weeks and was sidelined for six.

Colt sources said it was not known at this time whether quarterback John Unitas would be ready for action in next week's clash with the Vikings in Minnesota.

They said it would depend on how he responded to treatments for a muscle strain in his back. Guy Reese, Tony Lorick and Wendell Harris of Baltimore also were x-rayed after the victory and the league lead. The team returned to Baltimore, but the hospital said the results of the x-rays were negative.

Paul Lowe, the San Diego Chargers' big, busy back, has gained one record and is gunning for another.

Lowe, the Chargers' 205-pound speedster, clipped off 112 yards in 17 carries against Denver Sunday and became the American Football League's all-time rushing leader.

His performance in the Chargers' 35-21 victory at Denver pushed him past Abner Haynes and into the No. 1 spot in the all-time list of rushing leaders with a career total of 3,930 yards.

And his one touchdown was the tie-breaker that enabled the Chargers to maintain their 11-2 game lead in the league's Western Division.

2 1/2 Game Lead

Buffalo, meanwhile, opened up a 2 1/2 game lead in the East, whipping Boston 23-7 while second place Houston lost to Oakland, the No. 2 team in the West, 33-21. New York upset Kansas City 13-10 in the other one.

Keith Lincoln — the other half of San Diego's fearsome running combo — provided the scoring heroics for the Chargers.

Eagles Lose, 38-34

Penalty Aids Browns' Victory

By LOU MIO
CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Browns should tack notes on their tickets: weak hearts advised to stay home.

The Browns, specialists in the photo-finish, held a crowd of 72,807 to the nail-biting finale in a 38-34 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday.

The key play was a kick in the stomach.

George Tarasovic, Eagles' defensive end, was kicked when he tried to block a Gary Collins' punt in the fourth quarter and was called for roughing the kicker. The Browns, leading 31-27, got an automatic first down deep at their 20 and marched 80 yards for the touchdown that put the game out of reach.

"It's amazing how it happened," said Eagles' Coach Joe Kuharich. "None of them had orders to block it. If we were going to block it we would have used Irv Cross or Dave Lloyd up the middle. Tarasovic is the slowest man on the line."

Tarasovic said Collins "kicked me right in the stomach as I cut across. He was kicking it real slow. He was really taking his time."

Climaxed Afternoon
Tarasovic's play climaxed an afternoon that included spectacular kickoff returns, precision passing on both sides and great individual efforts by the Browns — Jim and Tim — and Pete Retzlaff.

The lead changed hands six times and the score was tied three times. When it was over, the Browns still held a one-game lead over the St. Louis Cardinals in the National Football League's Eastern Conference.

Cleveland's Jim Brown scored three touchdowns, plus one that was called back. He dived over a heap of bodies for a one-yard score, bulldozed seven yards for another and caught a 32-yard pass from Frank Ryan.

Jim Brown rushed for 131 yards, raising his total to 908 for seven games.

The Eagles' Tim Brown raced 186 yards in 16 carries. He had a 54-yard burst off tackle for a es of two and seven yards. His touchdown early in the first last one gave the Browns a 38-27 lead.

Ryan and the Eagles' Norman Sneed were both making comebacks of a sort. Ryan, who was benched last week during a loss to the Minnesota Vikings, fired 307 to the nail-biting finale in a 38-34 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday.

son threw four yards to Marlin McKeever to cut the margin to 10-7 just 41 seconds before half-time, but Minnesota climaxed another drive with Dave Osborn's 21-yard scoring dash in the third period.

The Rams added one touchdown after the double lateral play and were threatening to get another in the closing seconds when Larry Vargo picked off a pass and ran 100 yards for Minnesota, only to have the return wiped out by a Viking holding penalty.

Minnesota, with two more losses than Western Conference leader Baltimore, will have a chance to narrow the gap next Sunday against the Colts. Los Angeles will meet second place Green Bay.

Retzlaff did an excellent job of getting open and made two or three great catches," said Browns' Coach Blanton Collier. Pete had seven grabs for 151 yards, but Collier said he did not blame Browns' defensive back Ross Fichtner, who shadowed Retzlaff.

Sam Baker of Pittsburgh booted field goals of 12 and 39 yards but missed a 28-yarder that left the Browns ahead at halftime, 21-17. Lon Groza of Cleveland kicked one 49 yards.

years and only once before. Have I ever fumbled a pass after catching it? It was similar to this situation and it was ruled a fumble.

"This play also might have been ruled a fumble except that I was in the end zone and once a player is in the end zone with the ball it has to be a touchdown regardless of what happens to the ball after that."

Berry's position was upheld by Baltimore Coach Don Shula. "I've seen enough of this guy to know you have to knock the ball out of hands if he is going to lose it after a catch. And that doesn't happen very often."

Whitsell had another story. He contended that he first hit the ball in the air and then batted it away a second time before Berry had possession.

Wouldn't Argue

Berry said if the play had been ruled incomplete he wouldn't have argued. "I've learned that the officials can see things better than the guys involved in the play. No, I would not have questioned the call if it had gone against us."

Shula, Berry and Units were all lauding Cuozzo, who came off the bench to complete four of five passes, including the winning strike to Berry.

"It was a pressure situation for the kid," said Shula, "and he showed us a lot. I'm real proud of him."

Units said he figured his back would not prevent him from playing against Minnesota next Sunday. "I could have gone back in but it wasn't necessary."

Trailing 24-7 going into the final period, the Bears scored two touchdowns to pull within three points and then recovered a Baltimore fumble with about three minutes to play.

The Bears moved from their 28 to the Baltimore 46 but had to give up the ball on downs.

Before the hectic fourth quarter it appeared the Colts would have an easy victory as the Baltimore front line kept harrasing Bear quarterback Rudy Bukich.

March 80 Yards

The Bears then put on their desperation rally. They marched 80 yards for a touchdown, capped by a six-yard pass from Bukich to Ron Bull.

On the next series of plays the Bears tossed Lenny Moore and Cuozzo for losses totaling 18 yards and Tom Gilbur punted the ball dead at the Colts' 46. Aided by a pass interference penalty which put the ball on the one, the Bears scored on the plunge by John Arnett.

Baltimore began to move, and Cuozzo hit Mackey with a 44-yard pass. But Mackey fumbled and Whitsell recovered on the Bear 38. The Bears moved to the Colt 46 before their drive was halted.

With 1:38 left, the Bears forced the Colts to punt again and Gilburg kicked to the five. The Bears tried three desperation passes before Lou Michaels nailed Bukich in the end zone for a safety seconds before the final gun.

Jenks Has 3 Field Goals Redskins Record 23-7 Victory Over Giants

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Washington played "get the passer" with Earl Morrall and Gary Wood Sunday. They succeeded in the first in a 23-7 victory over the New York Giants, their first triumph at Yankee Stadium since 1958.

"We primed the boys on that all week," said coach Bill McPeak of the Redskins. "We pointed out that New York was leading the league in protecting its quarterback. Their passer had been thrown only 12 times in seven previous games. We got Sam Huff, the ex-Giant who is the Skins' middle linebacker, to echo the same thoughts."

"You know, the Giants were leading the league in that department," he said. "This was most gratifying victory, especially to me. You know I was with the Giants the last time Washington beat them up here."

"Last year I was still mad about the trade. This time I made up my mind to control myself and play my normal game, to think clear, not in anger."

Huff was one of the boys storming the passer although John Paluck, and Joe Rutgens applied the heaviest pressure. Huff hit Steve Thurlow, jarring loose a fumble that Paul Krause took in the first period and returned 31 yards for a touchdown.

Got Heave-Ho

It was Huff and Lonnie Sanders who blocked a field goal attempt by Bob Timberlake from the 17 in the third period when a Giant drive was thwarted by an unfortunate penalty.

Morrall had been shaken up on a hard tackle and young Wood had taken over as quarterback. Scrambling out of the pocket for several fine runs, including a 25-yard romp to the Washington six, Wood had moved the club.

Chuck Mercein had just rammed to the three but flags were down all over the field while Frank Lasky, Giant offensive tackle, rained punches at Paluck, the Skins' defensive end who plays opposite him. Lasky got the heave-ho and the Giants suffered a crushing 15-yard penalty that put them back on the 20. The blocked field goal try followed.

After the game Paluck explained the incident like this: "He (Lasky) just lost his head. On the previous play Gary had rolled out of the pocket and I was after him when Lasky hooked my arm."

"I said to him 'Son I'd appreciate it if you'd keep your mitts off me'. He came out swinging. I had no intention of retaliating. He hit me on the helmet and the shoulder pads but they were wasted punches. I learned a long time ago when your back is to your goal line to let the officials call it."

"Anyhow he didn't land a good one that hurt me."

When a fellow commented that Lasky landed more punches than Cassius Clay on Sonny Liston in Maine last summer, Paluck grinned, "yeah, and more people saw them."

Lasky said no comment but Sherman had, "That is one of the things that comes from growing up. Personal pride has to give way to a man's responsibility to his ball club. We talked about this before the game. We told the boys it was their responsibility to the team to take some more than to go back at the kid. He was trying."

It was a sloppy ball game with the Redskins scoring on the run with the recovered fumble and a 26-yard option pass from fullback Dan Lewis to rookie Jerry Smith. Bob Jenks kicked three field goals of 37, 14 and 37 yards.

New York's only TD resulted from a fine interception and 17-yard runback by Henry Carr, a pass interference call against Johnny Sample and a one-yard scoring plunge by Mercein, the rookie from Yale.

Sherman said Morrall's back had been bruised in the third period. He did see brief service later but it was a big bomb by Wood, intended for Aaron Thomas in the end zone, that was intercepted by Paul Krause to ice the game for the Skins.

Renfro Returns Kick 99 Yards; Hayes, Andrie, Lilly Aid Victory

DALLAS (AP) — Speed demons Mel Renfro and Bob Hayes and huge, lumbering George Andrie and Bob Lilly teamed up to break Dallas' five-game losing streak with a 39-31 victory over San Francisco Sunday but the crowd enjoyed the zany antics of the affair more than anything else.

Ever hear of a three-inch pass interception? That's what Lilly got when he took the ball virtually out of George Mira's hand and ran 17 yards for a touchdown. It was so close three inches seems to be a fair estimate.

The crowd of 39,677 also was treated to a dippy-doodle — that's what he tried to make it anyway — run by 239-pound Chuck Howley, who picked up a fumble and rumbled 58 yards to get Dallas up for a touchdown it didn't get because Don Meredith had a pass intercepted on the first play.

The critics said if Howley had run like a lineman instead of trying to do it like a halfback, there might have been a touchdown.

Meredith entered into the spirit of the whacky occasion by twice fumbling the pass back on the try for extra point.

The first block of a field goal attempt came late in the third quarter when Charley Krueger, 49er tackle, got in front of Danny Villanueva's kick from the San Francisco 37 and Jim Johnson picked it up and ran to the Dallas 39. The 49ers got a touchdown to take the lead the 31-30.

Then 10 minutes later, Larry Stephens, 252-pound Dallas tackle, blocked Tommy Davis' field goal attempt from the Dallas 25 and Obert Logan covered it on the Dallas 47. The Cowboys rolled to a touchdown to win the game.

On the serious side, Hayes, the Olympic sprint champion, was up to his old tricks — getting more mileage out of a play than anybody. He figured in only nine plays but scored two touchdowns, caught four of five passes for 104 yards and re-turned four kickoffs 128 yards. He set up a field goal with a 66-yard kickoff return.

Renfro took the opening kickoff back 99 yards to a touchdown — the longest run of the year in the National Football League — and figured in eight tackles and broke up one pass.

Andrie recovered John Crow's fumble at the goal line for a touchdown to contribute his bit.

Mira, filling in for the injured John Brodie, passed for two 49er touchdowns. He set up three touchdowns and a field goal with his tossing.

But adding to the whackiness of the occasion, San Francisco was gaining more than 400 yards in its third straight game only to lose them all.

BOSTON (AP) — Pete Gogolak, the Buffalo Bills' high-scoring placekicker, apparently needs a minimum of practice to stay sharp in his specialty. Although sidelined for a week, Gogolak booted field goals from 28, 16 and 32 yards and a pair of conversions Sunday in the Bills' 23-7 American Football League victory over the Boston Patriots.

Tom Brown (40), of the Green Bay Packers, was hit in the back of the head by a pass after he shoved Jim Gibbons (80), of the Detroit Lions, Sunday at Lambeau Field. ### 59-Yard Pass Play Decisive

Cards Edge Steelers, 21-17

BY MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — It took one player with a broken bone in each hand and another, who was playing it as if both hands were broken, to beat Pittsburgh Sunday, but what else could the Steelers expect when they play in St. Louis?

Two years ago, Bobby Joe Conrad of the Cardinals eluded the idea in the first half after pushing the Cardinals all over the field only to find themselves trailing, 7-3, at intermission.

Safety Larry Wilson, playing with both hands bandaged because of broken bones, set up the St. Louis score by intercepting a Nelson toss.

"It nestled into my arms nicely," said Wilson, who raced 34 yards with the ball to the Steelers' scoring pass of about 30 yards on the last play of the game for a 24-23 National Football League victory.

Last year, quarterback Bill Nelson passed the Steelers to two touchdowns in the closing minutes, but an interception halted a third drive in the final minute and St. Louis won 34-30. Sunday, Nelson again directed Pittsburgh to two final period touchdowns. "When Johnson lays the tallies — the second with only 1:12 remaining — and the Steelers appeared to have broken the St. Louis jinx."

But St. Louis again had the answer. Flanker Billy Gambrell, of St. Louis, who had dropped if I had missed that last one, I two passes and would not have been playing anyway except for Conrad's bad leg, latched onto a 59-yard scoring aerial from Charlie Johnson with 37 second down and a 14-3 lead in the third left and the Cardinals had a 21-17 victory.

Pittsburgh should have gotten beat his defensive man. Gambrell nodded and then shared the long throw down the middle and galloped the last 20 yards untouched.

Taxpayers' Plan Would Hold Levy Below $2 Million

Representative Recommends Outagamie County Budget Cut

Recommendations made this morning by a spokesman for the Appleton Taxpayers Association would hold the 1966 Outagamie County budget levy below $2 million. The estimated budget calls for a levy of $2,103,429.

During a public hearing on the proposed budget of $4,875,094, Lee Logan recommended increases in anticipated revenues which would total $105,920. He recommended one decrease of $12,500.

In a breakdown of proposed revenues, Logan recommended increases of $39,000 for the county's 1965 share of state income tax allocations, and $34,000 for the county's 1966 share. He also recommended a $17,920 increase in the estimate for the county's 1965 utility tax return, and a $15,000 hike for the 1966 figure.

Economy Up

"We would suggest that there is enough evidence," Logan said, "to indicate even on an ultra-conservative basis that a $75,000 increase in revenues for 1965-66 could be projected." He said that these increases are expected because of an overall increase in the state's economy during the past year. He predicted a greater increase during the coming year.

The only recommended decrease in expenditures was $12,500 for the 1965-66 snow removal program in the highway department budget.

He said the budget of $150,000 is in excess of anything spent in the last five years, and that $98,000 is the average amount spent in the last five years.

Logan said the association "is especially pleased this year with the steps the county has taken toward budget control. We want to assure you that the taxpayers of Outagamie County are aware of this."

More Detail

However, Logan made a suggestion that in future years the highway budget be spelled out in detail. "We all know that hundreds of thousands of dollars of non-property tax revenues will be received which are not included in the 1966 budget and we all also know that a similarly large amount will be expended."

"It is respectfully suggested," he said, "that in future budgets

Affable H. H. Hannemann Decides To Retire From Appleton Council

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

Ald. Harold H. Hannemann (10th) — one of the most effective and respected Appleton city council members for two decades — will not seek reelection in the spring.

Hannemann and Ald. Al Stoegbauer (4th) are the only 20-year men on the city council, topping their 18 other colleagues in seniority.

After serving with the U.S. Army in World War II, Hannemann returned to Appleton and decided to get his feet wet in local politics. He was 28 years old when appointed to the also managed to be good-natured in deliberations concerning municipal affairs and demonstrated a flair for injecting the right kind of humor at the right time.

Hannemann's leadership qualities were quickly recognized by fellow aldermen after he was elected by 10th Ward residents to his first full two-year term. In the years that followed he outdistanced challengers while being re-elected to nine successive terms.

And again in 1963 the council saw fit to choose Hannemann as its president for a second time, a distinction held by only a few public officials in Appleton over the years.

In addition to heading the all-important finance committee for a time, Hannemann also headed other council committees at one time or another during his aldermanic career.

"The people in my ward have been good to me and I have tried to serve them to the best of my ability," Hannemann said.

Controversy Stirred

Will Femininity Spoil The Firehouse Crowd?

A triangle is taking shape within Appleton city government.

It involves a woman.

The fire and police commission and council's personnel committee appear to be fighting over her.

There's a possibility the council's public safety committee may also get into the act before it's over.

The problem developed when Fire Chief Roland Kuehn recommended that a woman secretary be hired at the all-male headquarters station.

Good Idea

Personnel committee members apparently thought it was a good idea as did some other aldermen.

However, the fire and police commission has balked.

In a letter to the personnel committee, the commission asked no action be taken toward hiring a female until the matter can be talked over.

Chief Kuehn feels a woman could take over the records and typing work in the headquarters and release a man for other duty.

The fire police commission recalled at one time the fire department had a woman clerk on its payroll for two to three days a week and that she quit.

Good Typists

Commissioners feel there are now men on the force who are good typists and could fill the bill.

"At our last meeting we discussed these things with the chief, and the things we asked him about are a matter of record, not a matter of opinion, and they're well in the minds of your commissioners," the commission wrote the personnel committee.

As a result, hiring of a woman employee for the fire department was held up last week by the council.

Profits of Bonds Should Be Shared

Communities In School District Entitled to Portion of Income, City's Finance Consultant Says

Towns and villages having vesting bond money during the areas attached to city public construction of the new building, school systems are entitled to share in income from bond issue investments, the Post-Crescent has learned.

Several cities in the past, including Appleton, have pocketed the proceeds derived from investing unused portions of bond issues earmarked for school construction projects.

In three areas last week—Appleton, Kaukauna and Neenah-Menasha—the question was raised as to why the attached districts were not getting their percentage share of the outside revenue.

Court Test

Roland Kampe, Town of Menasha and Thomas Thorson, Town of Grand Chute, told City of Appleton officials they were prepared to make a court test of the existing investment policy if necessary.

A clarification of the issue has been obtained by Appleton City Clerk Elden Broehm who contacted Michael Borgi, Chicago, a financial consultant with Chapman and Cutler, the firm which has handled the city's bond matters for years.

Borgi advised there was nothing wrong with the city investing portions of bond issue proceeds not immediately needed to pay construction bills.

However, he said it was mandatory to keep the interest derived from such investments in a separate school borrowing fund.

When the construction has been completed and all bills paid, the interest may be applied if the total cost actually exceeded the amount of the bond issue.

Funds Set Aside

But, if there is any interest money remaining, it is to be set aside in a sinking fund and then prorated accordingly to the municipalities comprising the school district.

Borgi said the accumulated interest money — sometimes running into several thousand dollars — must, and he emphasized, be used to apply to the school tax levy of the respective communities.

The interest cannot be turned over to the general fund, the bonding consultant indicated.

'Wild Rivers' In Northern Areas Named

Trout Streams Also Known for Scenic Appeal Protected

MADISON — A system of "wild rivers" in Wisconsin that will assure protection of especially scenic streams against impoundments and other damaging developments has been launched with the designation of three famous rivers in the far northeastern Wisconsin section of the state for such status.

The Pike and Pine Rivers in Marinette County, and the Popple River in Florence County, have been given "wild river" designation in an act of the legislature signed into law by Gov. Knowles. The Popple is a tributary of the Pine and flows in Florence and Forest counties. They are among the best-known trout streams in the northeastern section of the state, and are widely known also for their scenic appeal.

The "wild rivers" program was sponsored by a group of conservation clubs, and supported by the conservation commission which was given the responsibility of working with local development agencies and local governments in preserving their natural condition.

Future Acts

The authorizing legislation declares that the wild river system can be extended only by future legislative acts.

The purpose is to preserve some free flowing streams in the state, preserve natural values, attract tourists, and develop the recreation - related economy of the upper Wisconsin districts.

George Sprecher, assistant director of the state conservation department, noted that there is a precedent in law for such legislative action. Several decades ago the legislature prohibited by statute the construction of any dams on the famous Brule River in Douglas County.

More recently the legislature has acted specifically to prohibit proposed dams at particular locations on the Wolf River. The new legislation, however, envisions a system of natural streams that will be augmented in later legislative acts, officials explained.

Mao Expected to Get Largest Vote To Date, but Not Enough for Entry

BY WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly begins debate today on the annual proposal to admit Communist China. The debate was expected to end with the Chinese Reds still on the outside, despite the biggest vote in their favor so far.

Speakers listed for the first round of debate include Huot Sambath of Cambodia and Haim Budo of Albania, both supporters of Peking, and, on the opposite side, Liu Chieh of Nationalist China and Arthur J. Goldberg of the United States.

Diplomats agree that the Chinese Communists will fail to get the two-thirds majority needed to seat them. They also agree that they will get the largest vote they have received since the issue first arose in 1950. The vote in 1963 was 41 in favor, 57 opposed and 12 abstentions.

Not Peace-loving

Goldberg gave British television viewers an argument against bringing in Communist China in a recorded BBC interview Sunday night. He said that "it does not qualify for membership" because "it isn't peace-loving" and it "repudiates the charter" of the United Nations. "The recent declarations of Red China," he declared, "make this session a stronger case for the exclusion of Red China perhaps than ever before."

Huot Sambath advocated seating Communist China when he spoke Oct. 1 in the assembly's general debate. He said its absence deprived the United Nations of universality, denied 700 million Chinese a voice, and prevented solution of world problems.

He contended the United Nations could not mediate the war in Viet Nam, because "the exclusion of China and the two Viet Nams prevents our organization from playing any positive role in this question."

Restoration of Rights

The assembly is debating an item titled "Restoration of the Lawful Rights of the People's Republic of China in the United Nations." It was submitted by 11 Communist and nonaligned countries — Albania, Cuba, Romania, Algeria, Burundi, Cambodia, the Congo (Brazzaville), Ghana, Guinea, Mali and Syria.

Diefenbaker Bid for Premier Probably Last

Conservatives Given Only Slight Chance For Canadian Victory

TORONTO (AP) — Friends and foe alike speculate that John Diefenbaker is making his last stand as a national political leader in Canada's election today.

Most of his opponents and many followers of Diefenbaker's Conservative party concede him only the scantest chance to win and displace Lester B. Pearson as prime minister. Eight newspaper or broadcast groups predict Pearson will win; some supported Diefenbaker, but none foresees him as the winner. Their forecasts average a total of 137 seats for Pearson's Liberal party, 10 more than it has now and a majority in the 265-member House of Commons.

Diefenbaker has made a vigorous campaign and has said nothing publicly about retiring as party leader if he loses, but an associate says this is probable. He is 70 and already has lost one election to the Liberals, in 1963.

Cabinet Disrupted

Before that election his Cabinet was disrupted by resignations, amid charges of anti-Americanism, and there was a move in the party to discard Diefenbaker as leader. The party has closed ranks again, but few Conservative stalwarts are likely to want Diefenbaker to remain as party chief after another defeat.

The leader of the party winning the most seats in the House of Commons becomes prime minister. Diefenbaker held the job from 1957 until he lost to Pearson in 1963.

Pearson, with only 127 seats in the last Parliament, had to depend on support from minor parties to pass vital legislation. He called today's election in an effort to get a Liberal majority. He has predicted a net gain of 16 seats to give him that majority.

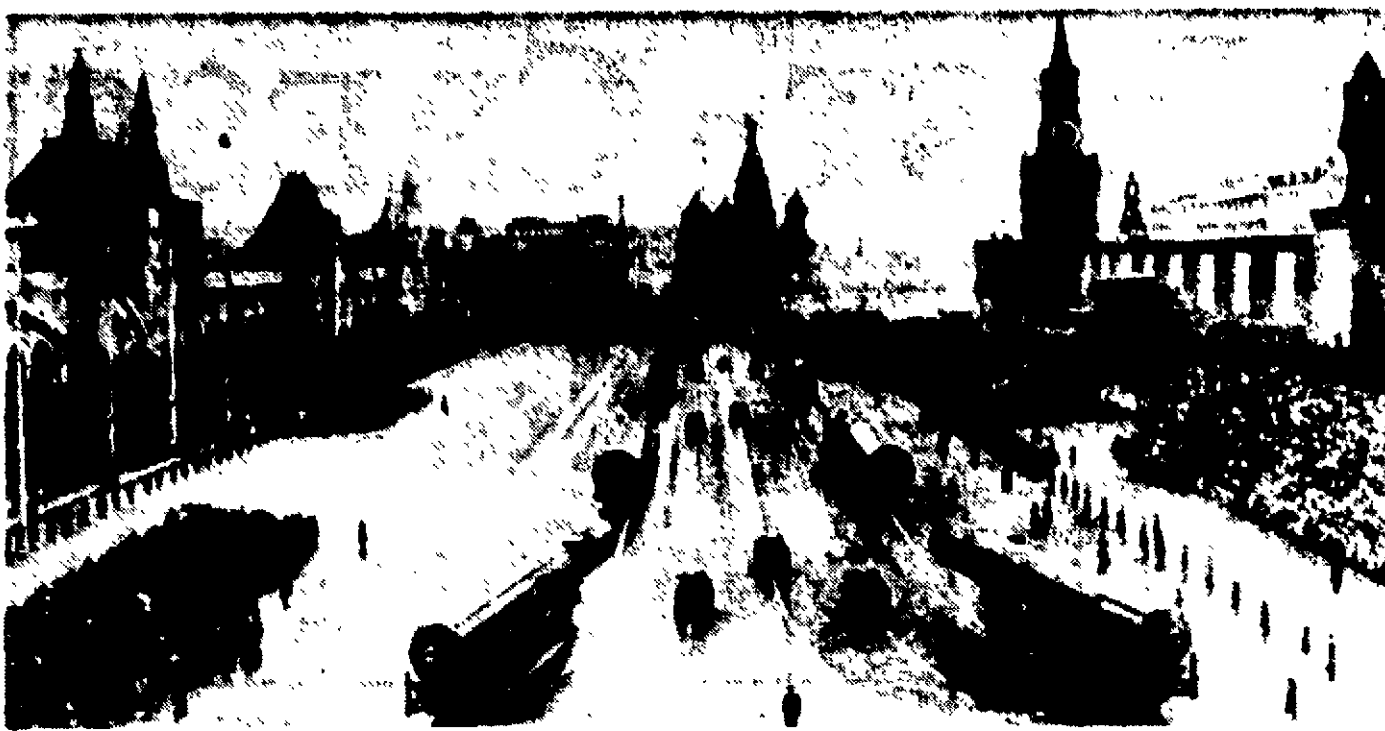

The Conservatives, or Tories, had 92 seats in the last House. Three smaller parties divided 40, and the remaining 6 were vacant or held by independents.

Pearson, 68, entered the government under Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and later served as foreign secretary under Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

He has hit hard on the theme of "Liberal prosperity." Canada has been gaining nine per cent annually in gross national product, and employment figures are up. Pearson has pointed with pride to Canada's new agreement with the United States on automotive exports. Other than that, Canadian relations with Washington have not figured in the campaign.

There were 1,011 candidates for the 265 seats in Canada's fifth election in eight years. The normal tenure is four to five years, but the party in power can call for an earlier vote.

Cloudy skies were forecast for election day over much of the country, but no storms. More than 10 million persons are eligible to vote, with a poll of 7 to 8 million expected.

Soviet Military Parades New Missiles

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians displayed three new missiles Sunday plus an older one, which they said can orbit the earth with a nuclear warhead.

The Soviet missiles were shown during the mammoth military parade marking the 48th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. Attacks on the United States were relatively mild.

The orbital rocket, shown first last May Day, was given the place of honor in the parade of 250 pieces of military hardware. Behind it, came a mobile missile which the Russians described as invulnerable. The Russians say it is a new intercontinental ballistic missile. Western experts estimated its range at 1,500 to 5,000 miles.

The term "invulnerable" was taken to mean it could be moved on the ground to avoid attack.

Iron Maiden

It appeared to be a revised version of the Iron Maiden first shown last May. It was about 60 feet long, 20 feet longer than the Iron Maiden, five feet in diameter and solid fueled.

The other new missiles were described as intermediate range ballistic missiles with a range of between 300 and 1,500 miles. A fourth new weapon, tank-like in appearance and mobile, contained four antiaircraft guns of about 50 caliber.

An announcement said the

Since both the Soviet Union and the United States can orbit and return manned spacecraft, it is assumed they can do the same thing with a nuclear warhead, sources said. But U. S. experts consider intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles produce the same effect at less cost and with greater accuracy than an orbiting missile.

Also in the parade were guideline missiles which the Soviet Union has supplied to North Viet Nam. These 35-foot, surface-to-air missiles have destroyed six U. S. planes. U. S. pilots claimed Sunday they had destroyed two launching sites and damaged three others.

Weapon Prohibited

A United Nations agreement, signed by both the Soviet Union and the United States, prohibits the orbiting of a nuclear weapon.

The United States has tested missiles to destroy attacking missiles in space but has not claimed to be able to launch nuclear attack from space.

Ku Klux Klan Busy With Weekend Memorial Events, Cross Burnings

Burning crosses and memorial services highlighted Ku Klux Klan rallies held over the weekend in four states.

Klansmen, spectators — and some hecklers — turned out in Rising Sun, Md.; Chesapeake, Va.; Lebanon, Ohio; and Austin, Texas.

The rally at Rising Sun, the first in Maryland in more than 40 years, drew a crowd Saturday night that newsmen estimated at about 2,000. However, Vernon Naimaster, acting head of the state klavern, said there were at least 3,000 cars counted before the counter "got tired and quit."

The Maryland rally featured memorial services for Daniel Burros, a New York Klan leader who killed himself when his Jewish background was disclosed, and Matt Murphy Jr., a Klan attorney from Birmingham, Ala., who was killed in an auto accident.

New Interest

Last Friday, Georgia Grand Dragon Calvin Craig said a congressional investigation of the Klan in Washington, has produced new interest and "a million dollars a day worth of publicity," for the KKK.

The Texas march, called a success by Exalted Cyclops Royce McPhail of Crockett, was marked by taunts and jeers from spectators as the robed Klansmen walked five blocks to the steps of the state Capitol Sunday. Five men identified as members of the American Nazi party walked with the Klan group.

Democratic party official has demanded the Justice Department investigate the killing.

When McPhail attempted to read a speech at the Capitol, students began an impromptu rally.

The Ohio rally Saturday night came after authorities in Dillsboro, Ind., prohibited a gathering in their state with a court order. James R. Venable of Stone Mountain, Ga., imperial wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan denounced newsmen at the Ohio rally as "a menace to the Gospel. The newsmen come out here and then tell lies about us."

At Meridian, Miss., a Negro was seriously wounded by a shotgun blast into his car. Peter Johnson, 56, was hit in the head and lost his left eye, doctors said. Johnson said the blast came from a passing auto.

At Fayetteville, N.C., two Negro Marines charged with terrorizing residents in Cumberland County, told officers they were members of the National Abolition Forces Organization. They were tracked down in a wooded area late Saturday night. The heavily armed men were identified as Ernest Jones Jr. and Warren F. Arsad.

Harold Gibbons of St. Louis, another vice president of the 1.7-million member union, and Mohn, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters, have been mentioned as contenders for Hoffa's job.

Teamster to Run For Top Spot if Hoffa Convicted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Einar Mohn, West Coast head of the Teamsters Union, says he'll be a candidate for the union's top spot if President James R. Hoffa does not run for re-election.

Mohn said his candidacy depends on the determination of two Hoffa appeals to convictions of fraud and jury tampering.

He told a group of Teamsters Saturday that he hoped a bitter campaign for the presidency could be avoided.

A Supreme Court decision of Hoffa's appeal of his jury tampering case in Nashville, Tenn., is expected in January. Another appeal is pending on the fraud conviction involving the Central States pension fund.

Harold Gibbons of St. Louis, another vice president of the 1.7-million member union, and Mohn, chairman of the Western Conference of Teamsters, have been mentioned as contenders for Hoffa's job.

Boat Crews Sneak Exiles From Cuba

Refugees Swim to Crafts to Avoid Castro Order Stopping Exodus

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Crews of small boats leaving Cuba are doctors who want to join the present exodus.

Speaking in Holguin, eastern Cuba, on the 48th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, he said 14 refugees arrived at Key West Sunday although Cuban ranks of the medical workers, Prime Minister Fidel Castro has said no more may leave Camarioca, the port emigrants must use. The refugees swam from shore to the boats.

He spoke at the inauguration of the Lenin hospital, which was built with Soviet aid. Doctors seeking to leave Cuba have been ordered to wait one year for an exit visa.

Castro said in his speech Sunday night, however, that Cuba does not impede the departure of any citizen. "Whoever is not a revolutionary is not a citizen of this country," he declared. "Our frontiers are not physical frontiers but revolutionary and ideological frontiers."

The Cuban Prime Minister made no mention of the U.S.-Cuban agreement on refugee departures. The agreement, completed Saturday, is expected to bring more than 100,000 Cubans to the United States Commercial airliners chartered by the U.S. government are to fly the emigrants from the Varadero Airport, 60 miles east of Havana, to Miami.

Men of military age will not be allowed to leave. The Cuban government in a note to the United States Saturday repeated its offer to let political prisoners leave the country in exchange for members of leftist groups jailed in other Latin American countries. The United States rejected that proposal when the Cubans first made it on Oct. 12.

Gronouski said, "I look upon my mission as getting across to the people of Europe, the people of Poland and the people of Red China what America stands for."

Gronouski will continue talks with Red Chinese officials in Warsaw. These meetings have been the only diplomatic contact between the United States and the Communist regime which this nation does not recognize.

Gronouski was elevated from Wisconsin tax commissioner to the Cabinet by the late President John F. Kennedy in 1963. President Johnson swore in Lawrence O'Brien as Gronouski's replacement last week.

Gronouski spoke at a banquet at which Stanley J. Cybulski was sworn in as Milwaukee postmaster.

LaVahn Maesch Gives Series Auspicious Start

BY JACK RUDOLPH
Post-Crescent News Service

A nearly full house enjoyed a clean-cut, precise and effectively varied program by LaVahn Maesch on the big organ of the St. Norbert Abbey Church Sunday night. The recital, the Lawrence University music dean's debut there, was an auspicious beginning for the annual Abbey series.

It wasn't a long program, running just under an hour, and most of the pieces were short. Maesch's crisp touch and firm control endowed them with a warm glow and a remarkable variety of mood and tonal color.

He played with a transparency of tone that was strong, a light rhythmic control and a nice sense of dynamic proportion. Lyrically delicate on occasion, he never succumbed to bombast or pathos.

Concert Highlights
His restraint was most striking in the Roberts Litany and McBride's Memorial. Between them these exquisitely delicate and dignified modern pieces were the highlights of the evening.

The Litany, a memorial to the war dead, opened and closed on a subdued, lovely melody, punctuated by a solemn tread that was by turn military and funeral. The middle portion was a mounting chorus of protest that provided strong contrast without overpowering the gentle song.

The same sense of dignity was apparent in the beautiful McBride Memorial to his sister. There was a feeling of grief and loss, but an even stronger expression of tender affection.

Bach Majesty
No organ recital is official nowadays without something by J. S. Bach. Paired with the preceding Pachelbel work, the C Minor Prelude and Fugue was rich in the majesty of the German school pioneered by the latter and brought to the heights by Bach.

Here, Maesch's performance was almost too restrained, but the interplay of the intricate counterpoint always was clear.

Court Commissioner S. L. Spengler To Sign Warrants

OSHKOSH—S. L. Spengler, Menasha, family court commissioner, has been named to be court commissioner to handle the signing of warrants and to hear the complaints as the result of this week's supreme court decision.

Previously, the district attorney would hear the complaint and sign the warrant. District attorneys no longer may do that and court officials here thought the presiding judge who will hear the case should not be the one to hear the complaint and sign the warrant.

The naming of Spengler as magistrate to hear the complaints from the police department and sign the warrants resulted from a meeting Friday afternoon of Circuit Judge Arnold J. Cane, County Judge James Sitter and Dist. Atty. Gerald Engeldinger.

Spengler will be at the courthouse each morning to handle the complaints and warrants. This will be tried for a 60-day period while the courts await a clarification of the supreme court ruling.

Judge Cane said he had met also with County Judge D. H. Sebor of Calumet County and the two have agreed to name Edward Eick, Chilton attorney, to be magistrate and court commissioner to handle the Calumet County complaints and warrants.

KHS Freshmen Named To Youth Center Board

KAUKAUNA — Freshmen at Kaukauna High School elected four representatives to the Youth Center board from a list of 17 candidates, according to Francis DeBruin, co-adviser for

The two works provided an excellent bridge between the French baroque and the modern.

Maesch seemed uncertain in the opening Clerambault numbers, which were abrupt and jerky. He was playing smoothly in the Daquin Noel, however, and thereafter moved confidently, displaying a sure attack, although there was an occasional abruptness about his releases.

Deftly Played

Maurice Green's unpretentious little trumpet tune was deftly played, with a series of clever little variations on a melody that has since become familiar as a childhood jingle.

The Roberts' Improvisations on the Agincourt hymn might have benefited from a bit less restraint. Only near the end did Maesch drop the reins and let the triumphant cry of victory come through.

The closing excerpt from Whitlock's Plymouth suite was as fresh and bracing as the sea air the work depicted.

The cheerful Daquin piece was a delight. Wherever and whenever the melody originated (and most Noel tunes are very old), Daquin gave it the polish and mischievous lilt of a court dance. Under Maesch's fingers the huge instrument pirouetted and bowed like a corpulent courtier.

Intellect Main Difference Between Man and Machine

BY MRS. RUSSELL BERRYMAN JR.
For the Post-Crescent
What's the difference between a man and a machine? Aside from the differences we see, that is, intellect is the difference between a man and a machine; even the most complicated computers are lacking the power to reason, to create new thoughts, to gain new insights into problems.

Mrs. Berryman

So in today's world, as machines do more and more of life's grubby chores, man is more and more precious because of his intellect. On the job his powers of reasoning will keep him valuable, because those powers of reason are needed to extend the work of the machines.

How is the intellect developed? Is it only the "long-hairs" who can be called intellectual? Is a fine intellect limited to professors and corporation presidents?

In Everyday Use
By no means. Intellect, or the power of reasoning, needs to be applied to many phases of everyday living. A new furniture arrangement in the living room... fixing the tap in the piston... studying the pattern directions for a new dress... these all demand the power of reasoning.

The development of the power of reasoning starts right in the home, within the family circle. Take time to answer your children's questions as well as you can; if you can not give an answer, look up the answer together.

Be sure your home has an encyclopedia, and count the day a success when you find an encyclopedia volume scattered all over the house. Read for pleasure. Watch television with discrimination. Listen to what people are really saying as they talk to you.

Learn to make connections between similar things... and learn to see when the wrong connections have been made and are causing trouble. Try to use the words that have exactly the meaning you wish to express; see how much more quickly it helps you understand and be understood.
Are you often bored? This is your brain's way of crying out for new experiences, new ideas, new methods. Your brain can help you keep pace with the many changes in your world if you give it a chance. Your intellect, your power of reasoning, grows every time you exercise it, just like the muscles of your body.

Some will use intellect to create or to enjoy the arts, the sciences. Some will use intellect to build a workbench or play a better game of golf.

As long as people use their powers of reasoning... as long as mothers and fathers make it satisfying for children to use their powers of reasoning, many will continue to build on the gains of other generations and find richness in the daily events of his life.

Neopit Man Faces Trial in Fatal Crash

SHAWANO—Bernard Sanpaw, 24, Neopit, was bound over Monday to Branch 1 of Shawano-Menominee County Court on a charge of negligent operation of a vehicle resulting in the deaths of three Menominee County residents May 22.

Sanpaw appeared before Oconto County Judge J. E. Hausner sitting for ailing Judge Ken Traeger for his preliminary hearing and was ordered held for trial. His bond was continued.

Charges stem from a two-car crash on Menominee County Trunk AA in which Karen Peters, Arnold Peters, and Charlotte Waupoose were killed and six others injured, four seriously.

Alex Peters, father of two of the victims, testified Sanpaw was driving when the vehicle, owned by Karen Peters, left his driveway seconds before the crash.

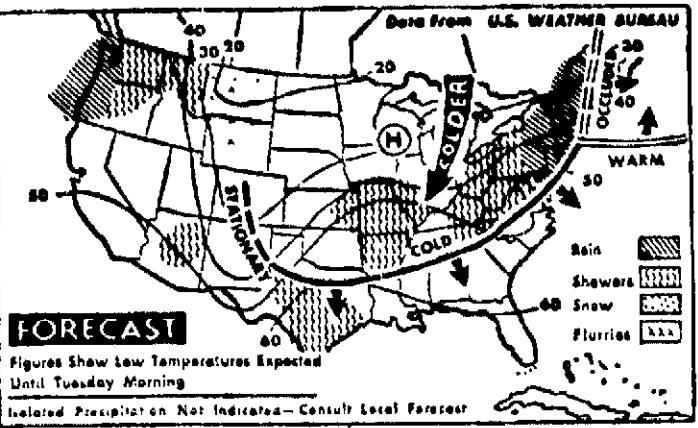

James Waupoose, 12, who suffered injuries and whose mother was killed in the accident, testified that Sanpaw was driving. He said Sanpaw approached him in the hospital the day after the wreck and said, "Don't tell the cops I was driving. Tell them Karen was."

Attorney Jack Schumacher, representing Sanpaw, attempted to establish that Karen Peters was driver of the car. Charlotte Waupoose was the other driver.

Lucey Seeks Revamping

Sees Need for New Water, Governing Agencies for State

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The need for reorganization of state government is at "the crisis stage," Democratic Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey said Saturday.

Lucey called for a single agency to coordinate water resource programs now divided among 10 agencies, a central administrative staff for the 12 agencies now engaged in various licensing programs, and adoption of standard purchasing requirements.

Lucey, expected to seek his party's nomination for governor next year, spoke before a Young Democrats' leadership conference at the University of Wisconsin Milwaukee. Democratic National Committeeman David Carley, an announced candidate for the same nomination, also spoke.

Carley criticized Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles for what he called a costly failure to ask the recent fall session of the Legislature for immediate enabling legislation for participation in the new federal medical care program.

Changes in Property Tax System Asked

Collections Give State Nearly Half Of Needed Funds

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The property tax, source of nearly half the funds collected by state and local governments, will probably be a permanent fixture of public finance in Wisconsin but it should be modified and improved considerably, in the view of the head of the state department of taxation.

James R. Morgan, chosen state tax commissioner earlier this year, made his first appearance before the annual conference of local tax assessors and supported the idea of reorganization of the property assessment machinery. The assessment district should be large enough to support a full time staff of technical competence to handle the specialized properties on the assessment rolls today, he said. The existing assessment machinery follows town, city and village lines. Hundreds of assessors are part-time workers. The idea of broader assessment districts with professional staffs has long been a favorite reform cause in Wisconsin tax administration.

Rapid Changes
Morgan also said that the state's assessment supervision, including its easement equalization work, probably should be completed at intervals of less than six years to recognize the rapid changes in property values, especially in the larger counties.

He suggested that annual review of all values within a local assessment district may also be impracticable, although it is now required by law, and that a quadrennial assessment might be more efficient and reliable. Under such a plan the local assessor would examine minutely one quarter of the properties in his jurisdiction each year, and put new values into effect for the whole district at intervals of four years.

Morgan pledged more assistance from the state department, and urged the local tax chiefs to take care in their review systems and appeals procedure.

Under the present law, the burden of proof upon the taxpayer in the case of an appeal or a request for review can be unreasonably burdensome and demoralizing, he said.

Film Industry Won't Abandon Censorship

Production Code May Change With Times, But Biggest Moneymakers Family Fare

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the film industry ready to abandon its self-censoring production code?

The answer is no — despite a flurry of news stories last week that Hollywood was preparing to scuttle the code in favor of the individual review of each film on its merits of taste and morality.

But the movie companies are definitely headed in the direction of a smaller, less stringent code which could be administered with greater elasticity.

Touchy Subject The matter of morality on the screen has been a touchy one since the earliest days of films. A prolonged smooch in the 50-foot "The Kiss" (1896) outraged the moralists. Protests have continued to the present day, "Kiss Me Stupid," "What's New, Pussycat?" and are likely to go on as long as there are movies.

But moral attitudes have changed since 1933, when the major portions of the production code were adopted.

The most recent change in the code was in 1956 but the basic provisions are the same: no profanity, no nudity, no glorification of crime, sin, adultery, etc.

Anyone who has seen recent films knows that the code is now enforced as effectively as was the 18th Amendment.

For a year and a half, the major companies that comprise the Motion Picture Association of America have discussed updating the code to meet today's standards.

Need Generalities "There is absolutely no truth to the reports that we are planning to abandon the code," said a spokesman. "The discussions, which may continue for some time, concern the possibility of cutting down the code to more general statements. That would permit the administrator to judge each film on its merits, without making specific restrictions."

The 1956 changes were prompted to a large degree by a pair of Otto Preminger films that were denied code seals: "The Moon is Blue," which featured verboten words like "virgin" and "seduced," and "The Man With the Golden Arm," which depicted drug injection.

The cause celebre of forthcoming code revisions may well be "The Pawnbroker."

The Rod Steiger film featured brief shots of nudity, which is specifically banned by the code. But the code administration made an exception and handed a seal to "The Pawnbroker" because of its artistic merit.

Slow Process Some observers feel this is a hypocritical situation. Obviously the code is not realistic when individual review of each film exceptions can be made.

The film industry moves slowly, and it may be months, even years, before what is actual practice can be formulated into a revised code. But the change seems inevitable.

Will this mean a flood of salacious movies?

Probably not. Although some racy films can make a quick buck, the biggest moneymakers are those the entire family can enjoy. There is evidence from the failure of "Kiss Me Stupid," and other films that the public is getting fed up with tasteless, lurid movies.

Cause, Remedy of Low Blood Sugar Described

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are the symptoms of "low blood sugar," the cause and the treatment? Would early morning and late afternoon weakness be a sign of it? I am a woman of 60 and have this type of weakness which prostrates me for half an hour or so, with rapid pulse and heart palpitation.

Would a test have to be taken during one of these attacks for it to show low blood sugar?—Mrs. M. M.

Dr. Molner

The symptoms you recite could fit the picture for low blood sugar, but this condition can manifest itself in many ways, so it's better to be sure than to jump to conclusions.

It is true that a blood sugar test taken during one of these weak spells would be enlightening, but since that can't always be done, a much better course is a sugar tolerance test.

This is a series of tests taken over a period of six hours, to show the degree of rise and fall, if any, in the blood sugar, and gives a very useful picture of how your system supplies and uses up its blood sugar.

The ordinary procedure is to have the patient eat a liberal diet, including substantial amounts of carbohydrate, for three days, before this test is made.

There is no single cause of they damage the eyes? Are they a good risk?—L.N.

Arguments for contacts: They do a good job. They won't damage the eyes, unless they cause undue irritation, in which case you would stop wearing them. They are especially good for special purposes—for actors, some athletes, models who don't want to wear glasses, and so on.

Arguments against: The cost—and if you are going to have contacts, you want an expert job of fitting. Some individuals find they cannot wear contacts for more than a relatively short period at a time. If a lens is lost, it can be difficult to find and expensive to replace if not found. Discuss the situation thoroughly with your eye doctor before going ahead.

Dear Dr. Molner: How do you find out if you have a tapeworm? I eat so much and never gain any weight, and have a lot of distress in my lower colon.—V.P.D.

Five types of tapeworm are common in North America—round worm, which can cause colicky pain; hookworm, prevalent mainly in the South, which causes diarrhea and anemia; and beef, pork and fish tapeworms. (There are many other kinds found elsewhere in the world.)

The sure method of diagnosis is finding eggs (or segments of the worms) in the stool; hence several stool examinations should be made. If no sign is found, your doctor must look for some other cause.

What's Left Undone Keeps Boyle Going

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't the things you've done in life that keep you happy—it's the things you still may do.

Achievement often tends to make you smug. It is the beckoning adventure of the unachieved that makes existence interesting and exciting.

It is good for the soul now and then to sit down and make a list of such possibilities, whether you ever really do anything about them or not. No matter how many things you've done, there are more that you haven't.

For example, I know a fellow whose wife is still married to him—who has never—

Stunned an octopus with a karate blow.

Eaten beef stew off a gold plate.

Fly Glider

Flown in a glider or a space capsule.

Saved a lost and half-frozen St. Bernard dog by offering it a drink from a small keg of bran-worms.

Worn a raccoon coat, a pair of spats, or a duck-tailed haircut.

Been a landlord or a loan shark.

Robbed the rich in order to give to the poor.

Raised chickens or chinchillas for profit.

Beat up any neighborhood bullies as the result of taking trifling glasses.

Held a flashlight for Dr. Kil-dare while he performed an emergency appendectomy aboard a destroyer during a typhoon.

Hypnotized Cobra

Hypnotized an angry cobra by blowing a soothing solo on my old Boy Scout bugle.

Subbed for an ailing high wire artist at the circus.

Won a game of hopscotch from my daughter.

Received the French Croix de Guerre—and two kisses on the cheek—from Charles de Gaulle.

Broken the bank in a penny ante poker game.

Taught John Wayne how to shoot from the hip, or the shoulder, or the knee, or the ankle.

Rescued a grateful millionaire's daughter from a burning saloon.

Pursued and caught a sword-fish without using rod or reel.

Seen a five two-headed calf.

Counted the spots on a leopard.

Advisory Unit Set Up on Alcoholism

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — An advisory committee of 21 citizens will be appointed to assist the newly revived divisions of alcoholism services in the State Department.

Played fan-tan or Mah-Jongg with Mao Tze-tung.

Showed LBJ how to rope and tie an unruly steer or politician.

Traveled a mermaid across the Sahara Desert.

Been called "Bwana" by a New York traffic policeman.

Gee, when a fellow looks back on all the things he hasn't done, his life seems kind of empty, doesn't it? But if he's ever going to do them, he can't start sooner than now.

U.N. to Benefit From Sale of Records

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Communist party and its affiliates who are being arrested, or dismissed from various government ministries, state apparatus and institutions. The purge is being conducted by the army.

The Indonesian Journalists Association urged the government to close the offices of Peking's New China News Agency unless it discontinues its "slandering reporting" about the Indonesian armed forces.

The association also urged the government to review Indonesia's diplomatic relations with any country—an obvious reference to Communist China—directly or indirectly involved in the rebel movement.

Gemini 7 Launch May Be Advanced

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The launching of the Gemini 7 astronauts may be advanced to as early as Dec. 2 if preparations continue to run smoothly sources at the space center say.

The present target date for the start of the 14-day flight by astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell Jr. is Dec. 8. It is the scheduled first leg of the ambitious double Gemini shot.

The sources reported checkouts of the Titan 2 rocket and Gemini 7 have progressed so well that "any date between Dec. 2 and Dec. 8 might become our target, with the possible exception of Dec. 5, which is a Sunday."

Launchings are avoided on Sunday because of the great amount of overtime pay involved.

Gemini 6 astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford will be launched nine days after Gemini 7. The two spacecraft are supposed to maneuver close together and fly in formation.

Police Fly to Aid Chile Border Clash

Demonstrators Attack Argentine Embassy in Santiago Sunday

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — held a similar session that ran through most of the night. Reports were reported rushed to southern Chile today after a weekend border clash between Chile and Argentine troops.

Both governments met in emergency session.

One Chilean policeman was killed in the clash Saturday in the Lake O'Higgins area near the tip of Chile. Another was wounded and two were captured.

Police used tear gas and water cannon to disperse demonstrators who tried repeatedly Sunday night to attack the Argentine Embassy in Santiago and again early today. The demonstrators burned the Argentine flag.

Demand Arms
Other angry Chileans assembled outside the presidential palace and demanded arms to fight the Argentines. Santiago papers carried headlines accusing Argentina of armed aggression. Near the clash scene, crowds stoned the Argentine consulate at Punta Arenas. No demonstrations were reported from Argentina.

The incident was a heavy blow to efforts by President Arturo Illia of Argentina and Eduardo Frei of Chile to iron out pending border disputes. The two met 10 days ago at the Argentine city of Mendoza, near the Chilean border, and agreed to bring their nations closer together through friendly settlement of border issues.

Frei met with his cabinet and military leaders until after midnight. In Buenos Aires, Illia

Appleton Man Shot in Holdup In Chicago

Former Policeman Apparently Tried To Disarm Thief

An Appleton truck driver and former city policeman was shot and killed Sunday night when he apparently attempted to disarm a person or persons during a robbery at a suburban Chicago truck stop.

The victim was Harry Ganzen, 54, 2117 N. Drew St., operator of Northland Trucking Co. He was shot in the head with a .25 caliber pistol and then was robbed. William Ingersoll, 18, Chicago, attendant at the truck stop and service station at Franklin Park, Ill., also was shot and is listed in critical condition.

Ganzen, an Appleton policeman from February 1947 to August 1952, was shot about 7 p.m. Sunday shortly after he delivered a truckload of cabbage to a Chicago firm from the Hans Kuehne farm, Seymour.

Found by Trucker

Chicago authorities told Appleton police Ganzen apparently intended to spend the night at Trucker's Paradise, which was about four blocks from where he unloaded the cabbage. Ganzen and the station attendant were forced to the rear of the service station by the person or persons intending to rob the place, Chicago police said.

The victims were found by another trucker who searched the station after he did not get service when he stopped. Ganzen was alive when found, but died about two hours later. Ingersoll was found in a washroom at the station.

From $400 to $550 was missing from the station cash register and both Ganzen's and Ingersoll's wallets were gone, Chicago police said. It was not known how much money Ganzen was carrying.

St. Louis Run

Ganzen's wife, Doris, told local authorities her husband had arrived home from a truck run to St. Louis Saturday. He loaded his truck at the Kuehne farm Saturday and left about 7 a.m. Sunday for Certified Foods Co., Chicago, with the cabbage. Ganzen operated his truck and semi-trailer on a lease basis.

Surviving Ganzen are his wife; a son, Gary, 14, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Orville Mundt of Milwaukee and Mrs. Peter Berens, 311 Park St., Kaukauna; two sisters, Mrs. Alfred Lom, 214 Kamps St., Kimberly, and Mrs. Gordon Planktink, 213 S. Lincoln St., Kimberly. A brother living in California also survives.

Funeral arrangements were pending at the Bretschneider-Trettin Funeral Home.

U.S. Planes Smash at More Red Missile Sites

A Young Soldier, new to the 173rd U.S. Airborne Brigade, is assisted by his platoon leader, left, and another comrade after collapsing from heat exhaustion while fighting the Viet Cong, north of Dong Dai River in South Viet Nam. The sergeant pulled the youth into the shade of his own body.

Seven American Aircraft Lost in Destroying Two Viet Cong Launch Pads

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. planes blasted another missile site in North Viet Nam today, the seventh raid on the Soviet-built air defense system in four days. But the series of attacks, which destroyed two sites and damaged five others, took a toll of five U.S. planes and two helicopters, with six American airmen listed as missing in enemy territory.

On the ground in South Viet Nam, troops of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Division shattered a strong Viet Cong force manning a well-fortified jungle position north of Saigon. U.S. officials said they counted 110 enemy bodies and were still counting. The Viet Cong force is believed to have abandoned the position.

The latest attack on a missile site was 60 miles east of Hanoi, and the pilots reported four missiles and four launchers at the site were heavily damaged.

Destroyed Five
Since July, U.S. planes have destroyed five missile installations and damaged eight others, military officials reported.

The Communists bagged their greatest number of U.S. aircraft of the weekend during U.S. attacks on missile sites near Thanh Hoa. There, a missile downed one U.S. Air Force F105 jet Friday, while conventional groundfire blasted down two propeller-driven A1 Skyraiders.

Communist Party's Defense Attorney III, Trial Delay Granted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Illness of a defense attorney today caused a 24-hour delay in the trial of the Communist party on criminal charges.

The party is on trial in U.S. District Court on 23 charges of failing to register with the Justice Department as an agent of Moscow. The trial began last week.

It was scheduled to resume today, but Joseph Forer told Judge William B. Jones that John J. Abt, another attorney for the party, was ill in New York, suffering from a virus infection and fever.

Forer asked a delay until Tuesday. When the government prosecutor raised no objection the judge granted the request. If Abt is unable to be present Tuesday, Forer said, he will carry on the defense without him.

On Rhodesian Independence

Wilson Proposes Another Meeting

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has proposed another meeting with the Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith for an attempt to solve the new crisis over Smith's drive for independence.

Wilson suggested that the two meet on the Mediterranean island of Malta.

There was no immediate indication what Smith's response would be. He was expected to meet with his cabinet today.

The two leaders, meeting in Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, agreed Oct. 30 to let a three-man royal commission try to seek a way out of the independence deadlock. Over the weekend the agreement began to fall apart.

Closed Door
Smith charged that the British prime minister's refusal to be bound by the findings of the royal commission had "finally closed the door" to a negotiated settlement.

The Rhodesian leader also declared a state of emergency in the central African colony, causing fears in London that Smith was preparing to declare unilateral independence to preserve white rule.

Wilson's government says such a move would be illegal and insists the colony's 4 million Africans must be given firm guarantees of political power eventually. The government has shown strong recent growth, now ranks first behind Florida and Texas in the organization's Southern expansion.

Johnson Signs Education Bill On Campus of Alma Mater

$2.6 Billion Measure Offers Schooling to 140,000 More

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (AP) — ranging from $200 to $1,000 a year.

President Johnson flew to his old college here today to sign a $2.6-billion education bill he said would put 140,000 more students in college next year with federal help.

Johnson, returning to the campus of Southwest Texas State College where he received his degree in 1930 — after a brief stint as a school dropout — offered this assessment of the broad new legislation:

"It means that a high school senior anywhere in this country can apply to any college or university in the U.S. — and not be turned away because his family is poor."

Asserting that "education is no longer a luxury but a necessity," Johnson said in a speech prepared for the outdoor bill-signing ceremony:

Reap Rewards
"In the next school year alone, 140,000 young men and women will be enrolled in college who, but for the provisions of this bill, would never have gone past high school. We will reap the rewards of their wisdom, citizenship and greater productivity for decades to come."

Among other things, the legislation provides for federally financed scholarships called "educational opportunity

are spreading throughout the nation."

Johnson said he wanted to emphasize "that the federal government intends to be a partner, not a boss," in education, and has "neither the wish nor the power to dictate."

Then he said that the "new adventure in learning" which he foresaw in the legal language of the new legislation had special meaning for him.

He recalled: "It was here on this campus . . . the seeds were planted from which grew my firm conviction that for the individual, education is the path to progress."

Birmingham Said To Have Over 100 Birch Chapters

NEW YORK (AP) — The John Birch Society boasts of more than 100 chapters in Birmingham, Ala., and its suburbs, the New York Times said today in a story from Birmingham.

The society employs three full-time coordinators, or organizers, in Alabama, the story said.

The story also said they have pushed the organization's strength to record proportions in Montgomery, the capital; Mobile, on the Gulf coast; and Huntsville, the home of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's George C. Marshall Spaceflight Center.

Smith charged that the British prime minister's refusal to be bound by the findings of the royal commission had "finally closed the door" to a negotiated settlement.

The Rhodesian leader also declared a state of emergency in the central African colony, causing fears in London that Smith was preparing to declare unilateral independence to preserve white rule.

Weekend Toll Reaches Ten

Count Jumps to 859 for Year With Added Names

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A two-car collision involving a stolen car chased by police and a double-fatality crash along a foggy highway have boosted Wisconsin's weekend traffic toll to 10 dead.

The 1965 count spurted to 859, compared with 931 fatalities on this date a year ago.

The 16-year-old driver of the car was critically injured. Massey's wife was hurt seriously in the collision in the north side Milwaukee suburb of Glendale. Two 13-year-old girls in the fleeing car were listed in satisfactory condition.

Teen-Aged Victims
Three Burlington residents, including two teen-agers, were also among the weekend victims.

Vernon E. Furlong and Donald A. Dorrington, both 18, of Burlington, were killed early Sunday when Furlong's car missed a Highway 83 curve north of Burlington and smashed into a tree in fog which sheriff's deputies said limited visibility to 75 feet.

A three-car collision on U.S. 14 just west of Madison Sunday took the life of Mrs. William Falkenstein, 64, Lexington, Ky. James Watters, 55, Muscoda, died Saturday night when his car slammed into a utility pole west of Blue River.

Emery Otto, 21, Hortonville, was killed Saturday when his motorcycle struck a tree near Hortonville.

Donald A. Burby, 19, Kenosha, died in a two-car collision near Kenosha Friday night.

Otto Lindig, 82, considers he's known President Johnson longer than any other living man. The farmer, who owns 500 acres only two miles west of the LBJ ranch, says he first met the President when Johnson was only 4½ months old. (AP Wirephoto)

Neighbor Recalls Youth

Grizzled Texan Known President Since Birth

By JACK KEEVER
STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Otto Lindig considers that he has known "Linton" B. Johnson longer, and better, than any man alive.
Having first encountered the future president when the latter was 4½ months old, the grizzled Lindig, 82, may have a point.
Lindig, who owns a 500-acre spread only two miles west of the LBJ Ranch, has a vast fund of memories about his famous neighbor, from childhood on.
He remembers the young Lyndon — Lindig pronounces it "Linton" — "following a double-shovel plow when he was 8."
"By the time he was 11, he was hauling cotton bales by horse and wagon to the gin," says Lindig.
The oldest recalls LBJ's school days in detail and one of the highlights to him was the boy's first public speech.
Declaration Contest
That was in 1921 when Lindig's young neighbor, going on 13, won a declamation contest at the old Klaerner Opera House in Fredericksburg.
Lindig regards himself as a sort of Johnson family historian, in fact, because his bygone friends also included the President's father, Sam, and grandfather, Sam Sr. Lady Bird Johnson is relying on Lindig's memories as a main source for a book she is writing about the LBJ Ranch.
From time to time Lindig still drops in on the Johnson home.
He is an odd figure with his grizzled chin whiskers, scarred face and age-dimmed eyes, usually dressed in boots, wrinkled sports shirt, nondescript trousers and white straw hat.
But as Lindig tells it, the Secret Service agents who guard the President never challenge him.
"One of them just says 'There goes old Lindig,'" he explains, "and I walk right on in."
During an interview, Lindig said that on Aug. 27, 1908, he was passing the Johnson ranch when Sam Johnson called out: "Come in, Otto. I have something to show you."
The something was a newborn baby.
"It was Linton," said Lindig. "Sam said, 'That boy is going to be governor of Texas some day.'"
"I looked at the baby and I made Sam mad. I told him, 'He's certainly got his mother's head.'"
Memory Clear
Lindig's mind is clear and his memory near flawless. He is quick to straighten out anybody who makes a mistake about any aspect of the President's early life.
Last spring Elizabeth Carpenter, Mrs. Johnson's secretary, invited Lindig to Johnson City where, with the President's wife, listening, he taped two hours of recollections about the LBJ Ranch. They had another tape session two months later.
The President remembered the 60th wedding anniversary of his old neighbor and Mrs. Lindig, 84, with a congratulatory card last year.
And on Thanksgiving Day last year the President and Mrs. Johnson sent over two Secret Service agents loaded down with a big turkey dinner. On the plates was imprinted: "From Lyndon and Lady Bird."

Profits of Bonds Should be Shared

Communities in School District Entitled to Portion of Income

Towns and villages having areas attached to city public school systems are entitled to share in income from bond issue investments, the Post-Crescent has learned.

Several cities in the past, including Appleton, have pocketed the proceeds derived from investing unused portions of bond issues earmarked for school construction projects.

In three areas last week—Appleton, Kaukauna and Neenah—Menasha—the question was raised as to why the attached districts were not getting their percentage share of the outside revenue.

Court Test

Roland Kamp, Town of Menasha and Thomas Thorson, Town of Grand Chute, told Appleton officials they were prepared to make a court test of the existing investment policy if necessary.

A clarification of the issue has been obtained by Appleton City Clerk Elden Broholm who contacted Michael Borgi, Chicago, a financial consultant with Chapman and Cutler, the firm which has handled the city's bond matters for years.

Borgi advised there was nothing wrong with the city investing portions of bond issue proceeds not immediately needed to pay construction bills.

However, he said it was mandatory to keep the interest derived from such investments in a separate school borrowing fund.

When the construction has been completed and all bills paid, the interest may be applied if the total cost actually exceeded the amount of the bond issue.

Funds Set Aside

But, if there is any interest money remaining, it is to be set aside in a sinking fund and then pro-rated accordingly to the municipalities comprising the school district.

Borgi said the accumulated interest money—sometimes running into several thousand dollars—must, and he emphasized, be used to apply to the school tax levy of the respective communities.

The interest cannot be turned over to the general fund, the bonding consultant indicated.

Representatives of the towns of Grand Chute, Menasha, Buchanan and Harrison wanted to know last week what will happen to the outside interest money likely to accumulate after the City of Appleton floats $5.3 million for new school construction purposes.

A new senior high school on the far southeast side will cost $5 million to build and equip, and the expense for a 12-room addition to Huntley Grade School will total $300,000.

The four townships which have areas in the Appleton Public School district pay about 12 per cent of total school costs.

In the case of the new high school, Kamp and Thorson voted against the bonding because they could get no assurance the investment income from the bond issue would be shared by all municipalities comprising the district.

Mandatory Procedure

Borgi informed Broholm the procedure he outlined for handling the invested bond proceeds is a mandatory one.

When Appleton built and equipped the new Einstein Junior High School for an estimated $1.8 million, City Treasurer Ray Feuerstein reported that more than $50,000 interest was accrued from investing bond money during the construction of the new building.

Feuerstein indicated the money went into the city treasury with the other proceeds accumulated from investments during the past year.

The Appleton Common Council has requested City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich to render a legal opinion as to whether the city has an obligation to share interest income from school bond issues with townships in the Appleton district.

Schools For Sale

There is a sidelight to the school district financial situation as it applies to Appleton and its four satellite townships. It was injected recently by Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) who noted the city had the Elmdale and Red Sta. schools for sale.

The schools, formerly owned and operated by two of the townships, were taken over by Appleton which also "inherited" a $40,000 bonded indebtedness on Elmdale.

Pointer posed the question, and wants the city attorney or anyone else to answer it, as to what will happen if the sale of the building does not equal the outstanding debt.

"Say if we only got $10,000 in $15,000 for Elmdale School,"

2 Cars Sprayed With Paint at Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Eugene Wentzel, 1300 Main Ave., reported to police that blue-green paint was sprayed on two automobiles parked in his yard and two children's coats stolen from a clothes line sometime Friday evening.

Pointer said, "Will the townships then make up the difference so Appleton doesn't have to bear the brunt of the financial loss?"

The question remains to be answered.

See The Home You Can Own With Less Than $100 Cash

YEARS AGO you needed thousands of dollars to buy a home. Not so today. E&R can build you a new Crestline home with as little as $79.99 cash, $79.00 monthly principal and interest if you're willing to do a little painting and floor tiling. $450.00 cash if you want us to do it. And there's no closing costs! Why keep paying rent?

1. INSPECT THE MODEL HOME. There's nothing like being forewarned with a little basic information about the Crestwood — floor plan, room sizes, designs available, things like that. It can help you out of the puzzling stage and give you a solid starting point from which to get into your own home.

2. CALL YOUR E&R REPRESENTATIVE REALTOR for any information you don't clearly understand. He'll be happy to answer any questions you may have with no obligation on your part, of course.

3. VISIT THE MODEL HOMES. Three Crestwood models are now open for your inspection. One at 1045 Gillingham Road, Neenah, just west of Hwy 41. Another at 1629 W. Ninth Avenue, Oshkosh and still another in Arcade Acres, Ripon. See for yourself how much home for the money E&R gives you.

4. HAVE YOUR WIFE CAREFULLY INSPECT THE KITCHEN AND BATH. She'll especially like the working arrangement in the kitchen with corner sink and new birch cabinets, room for festive dining and extra convenience. You'll both appreciate the advantages of the double entry bath with direct access from both the back door and hall.

5. ASK THE MAN FROM E&R FOR NAMES OF HOME-OWNERS. Over 700 families in this area have built E&R homes. You'll probably recognize a neighbor or fellow worker who owns an E&R home.

6. THOROUGHLY INVESTIGATE THE DETAILS of buying a new Crestwood home. Basic price of $11,600 plus lot includes complete 3 bedroom Crestwood ranch plan, full poured concrete basement, aluminum siding, custom construction, kiln dried lumber, fiberglass insulation, furniture-finish cabinets, natural gas heating and hot water, texture finish walls and ceiling with 2 year warranty, full one year service policy, service walks and driveway, grade entire lot, 100 Amps electrical service with 220 range outlet, and no closing costs.

With a choice of a lot priced at $3,000, buyers may take painting and floor tile work credits totaling $479. Cash required would then be less than $100, monthly principal and interest $79. So why are you paying rent when you can so easily enjoy the advantages of home ownership?

Candidates for Prime Minister Not on Ballot

Ruling Party in Parliament Picks Leader of Canada

TORONTO (AP) — By U.S. standards, the election Canada is holding today is an odd one.

Everyone knows that the purpose is to decide whether Lester B. Pearson will continue as prime minister or surrender the job to John G. Diefenbaker.

But neither's name appears on the ballot in 263 of the 265 voting districts. Pearson is running personally only in the Algoma East District of Ontario. Diefenbaker the Conservatives, ballot only in the Prince Albert District of Saskatchewan.

The way Canadian elections work, the party that wins most of the 265 seats in the House of Commons establishes the government and gets to see its leader become prime minister. Pearson leads the Liberal party, Diefenbaker the Conservatives.

Irregular Intervals
The national election is not held at four-year intervals like the U.S. presidential vote. Here the winning party has a five-year mandate, but under normal circumstances does call an election after four years. It can call one earlier if it wants, and must call one if it is defeated in Parliament on a vote of confidence.

Pearson's Liberals called today's election because, although they are the leading party in Parliament, they lack a majority. They hope to improve their standing.

The election ballot is simple, containing only the names of two to six candidates running from an election district. The ballot doesn't list party affiliations — only candidates' names, addresses and occupations.

Officially Independent
The reasoning behind this is that designation of a party could detract from a candidate's independence as an MP — Member of Parliament — and there might be difficulties if more than one candidate claims to represent a party.

The voter places an X beside the name of the candidate he prefers. There are no voting machines.

Canada is so broad that although voting hours are uniform — 8 a.m. to 7 p.m., local time — the voters in British Columbia still have 4½ hours to ballot at the time Newfoundland polls close.

State Law Gives Bonus To Teachers

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON—More than 3,000 elderly and retired school teachers whose pension plans were made during an era of hard dollars have been given bonus benefits in a new act of the legislature.

About 75 per cent of the 4,154 teachers with more than 20 years of teaching service will benefit under the new law increasing monthly annuities for teachers now retired, officials estimated as Gov. Warren P. Knowles signed the legislative bill into law.

The new program gives them supplemental benefits at the rate of $5 per month for each year of service up to 32 years. Men and women with 20 years of teaching service and now receiving under $100 a month in pension will be given raises to $100, and those with 32 or more years will receive $160. The amount of the increase will be reduced by the amount of social security benefits or disability benefits the teacher may be receiving. Increased benefits under the new law can range up to $140 a month, it was explained. The bill will be especially helpful to those teachers who worked when salaries were low and before there was an opportunity to qualify for social security.

Confusion of Views

Lindsay Victory May, May Not be GOP Gain

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sometimes you can't even tell the players with a scorecard. Things get mixed up.

John V. Lindsay, the Republican who just got elected mayor of New York City on a "fusion" ticket and played down his Republicanism, says it wasn't a Republican victory.

He was talking Sunday on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation." But New York's Republican governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller, said it was a GOP victory. He was talking on another Sunday radio-television program, ABC's "Issues and Answers."

After last week's election returns, Rockefeller said New York City is now a "Republican town." But Lindsay said under him New York would be "non-partisan."

Not Enthusiastic
Lindsay, whose relations with Rockefeller seem less than hearty, said that while he would endorse the governor for another term he would not campaign for him.

Last week Ray C. Bliss, GOP national chairman, while denouncing "leftist-oriented" groups in the Democratic party, urged all Republicans to "reject membership in any radical organization which attempts to use the Republican party for its own ends."

He specifically berated Robert Welch, founder and president of the John Birch Society, calling him an "irresponsible radical."

Meanwhile, Welch, also over the weekend, once again said the government was under Communist influence.

"Vast Asylum"
Welch, who calls democracy "mob rule," considers the income tax destructive, accused former President Dwight D. Eisenhower of treason and put the Communist tag on the late John Foster Dulles, considers the United States "one vast insane asylum."

Not long ago, a Republican senator, Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, who had attacked the one-half hours, with an optional achievement test for French or Spanish taking an additional hour.

Birch Society before, said there is no reason for it in the Republican party.

"As a partisan Republican," he said, "I am concerned by the fact that the John Birch Society has picked my party as the vehicle to promulgate its monolithic philosophy. In so doing, this group seems more dedicated to the defeat of Republicans than Democrats."

He also added this: that Birchites of the left have a stronger hold on the Democrats than any "extremists ever had on our party."

Dirksen View
Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican Senate leader, while agreeing with Morton that the Republican party has no place for Birchites, said they have never been a part of the GOP and never will be.

But Sen. George Murphy, California Republican, saw the danger from Birchites a little differently from Morton. He said 60 per cent of them are Democrats.

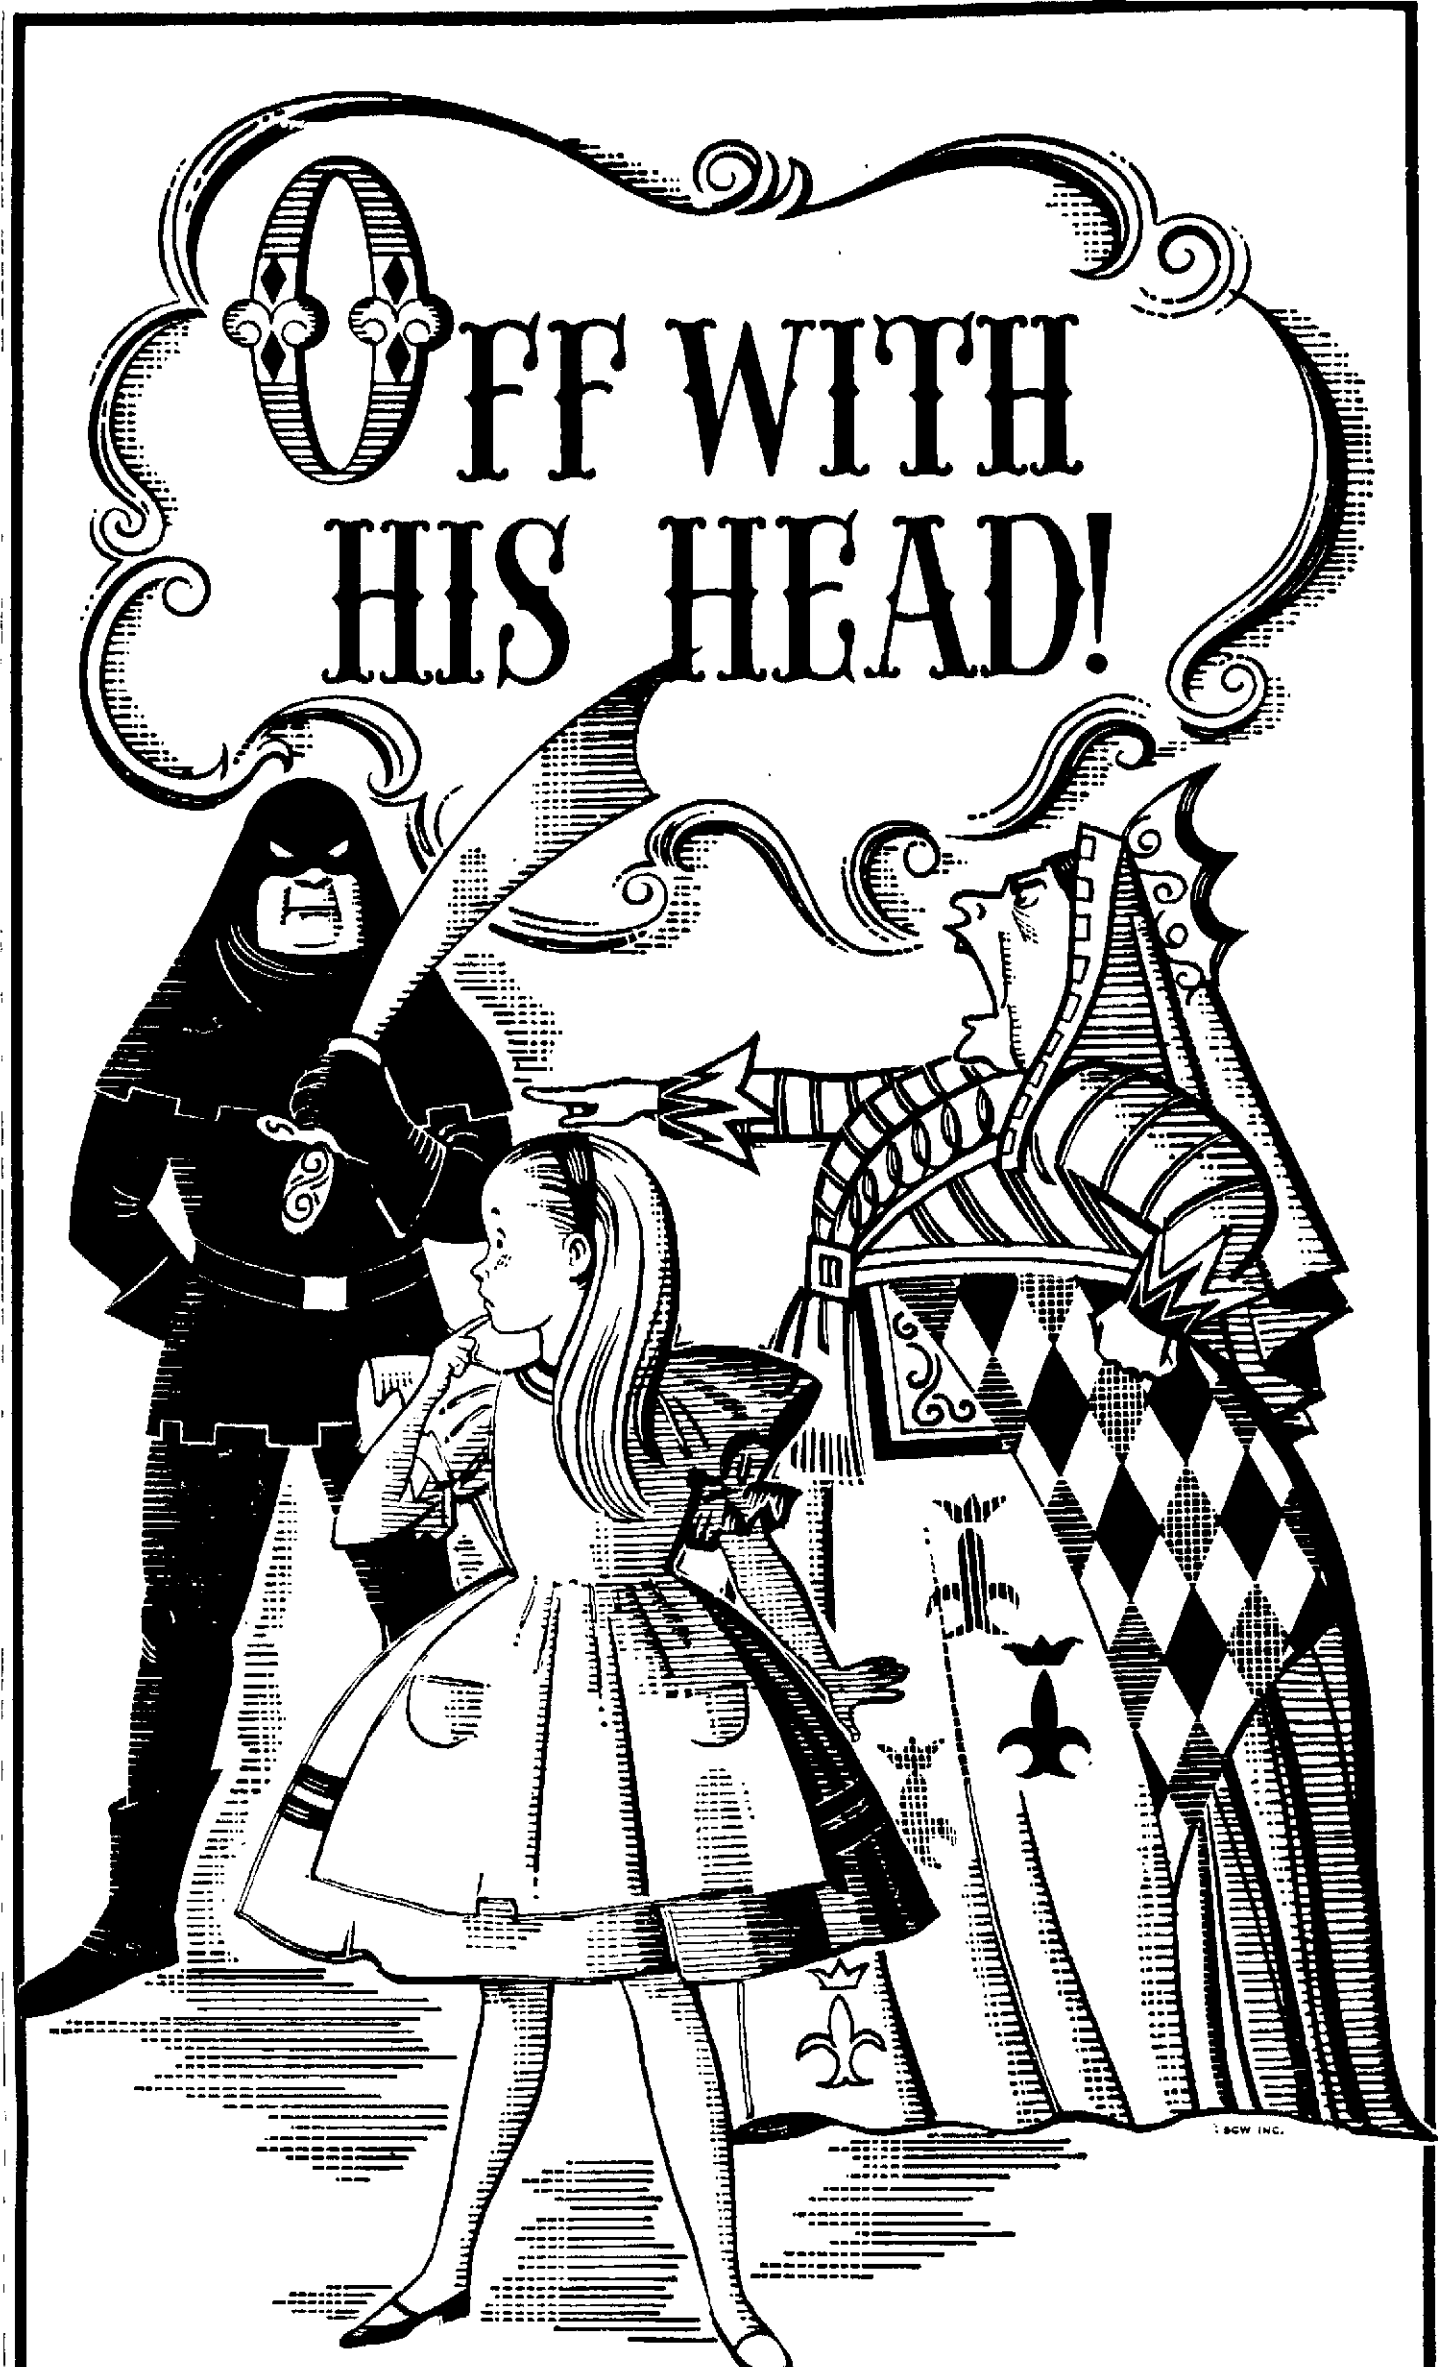

Over the weekend Barry Goldwater declared America faces a new breed of extremists who, he said, are associated with the Democratic party.

The 1964 presidential candidate was referring to draft-card burners, attempts to block movement of troops to Viet Nam and "leftist groups planning to send supplies to the Viet Cong." He called them radicals who "for the most part consistently vote the Democratic ticket."

Split Healed
Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who last week refrained from calling Lindsay's victory a Republican victory, said over the weekend Republicans are stronger because they have healed their ideological split of 1964 and repudiated the radical right extremists.

But not long ago Bliss had said Goldwater's new Free Society Association will hurt the GOP's long-range interests. Goldwater insisted his outfit should help the party.

Very promptly then two other Republicans, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, disagreed with Goldwater, which wouldn't be the first time other Republicans did that, and probably won't be the last.

Alice's Queen struck an imperious, despotic pose. There was no appeal possible. The King, the Queen and the executioner were present, in addition to the prisoners, of course. And tearful Alice. But these were all.

No jury, no public, no publicity. That last, most significantly. No newspaper reporters. Newspapers have no place in an autocracy. In Alice's chilling wonderland any spontaneous reaction — even applause, was "immediately suppressed by the officers of the court."

Not so in our day, in real-life America, 1965. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the rights of a public trial, says the Sixth Article of the Bill of Rights of the U.S. Constitution.

Not only is the accused assured a public trial, but, so people may know what is happening, newspapers must report these trials.

Freedom of the press? No. This is responsibility of the press . . . a solemn duty to report to the people the activities of the courts of the people.

Newspapers have no special importance as newspapers. Only as regards the services they render the reading public. Newspapers have no extraordinary rights. People do. And newspapers, with the stark basic drama of black and white, protect these rights.

Men have the right to a public trial and the right to know what happens in courtrooms. These are rights written into the Constitution and affirmed by the Supreme Court in 1829 when Mr. Justice Bagley wrote: "It is one of the essential qualities of a court of justice that its proceedings should be public."

The light of publicity reveals much that would otherwise flourish foully in the dark. It is the bright white light which searches out the dark corners of abuses wherever they may occur.

Congress Asks Accurate Total Of Casualties

Claims Figures From Viet Nam Are Being Manipulated

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department announcement on U.S. casualties in Viet Nam are deliberately misleading.

Not only is the reported toll of deaths deceptive, but no information at all is being made known regarding the number of wounded, disabled and missing (presumed captured).

That isn't all.
When members of Congress and others have inquired about this, they have been given figures that told only part of the story or were contradictory.

Total Doubled

Following are graphic examples:

A Democratic senator was officially informed that as of
Oct. 1 the number of U.S. deaths in Viet Nam was 1,389—a
publicly admitted.

Of this number, there was no indication how many were combat deaths, how many due to other causes — accidents, disease, etc. The senator also was given no information on the number of wounded, disabled and missing for various reasons.
There was a complete blackout on that.

A week later, an insistent House Republican leader obtained the following detailed report from the Pentagon:

As of Oct. 18—deaths due to hostile fire, 830; deaths due to non-hostile fire, 345; wounded, 4,455; missing in action under hostile fire, 81; missing in action under non-hostile fire, 29.

Of the 4,455 listed as "wounded," there was no indication how many were battle casualties, how many disabled due to other causes.

A military authority pointed out to the GOP leader that as a general rule non-combat disabilities average eight to one—that is, for every man disabled due to hostile action, eight are incapacitated because of accidents, illness and other factors.

So the 4,455 reported "wounded" left much to be clarified.

Demanding The Facts

The Defense Department's policy of suppression, evasion, and dissimulation stems directly from the White House.

This course is being pursued with the personal knowledge and approval of President Johnson. It was cleared with him before being initiated, and is squarely in line with Secretary McNamara's long-held "managed news" ideas.

A key figure in this practice is Assistant Secretary Arthur Sylvester, one-time newsman, who seemingly delights in withholding and juggling public information.

Significantly, the deliberate manipulating of Viet Nam casualty figures has drawn indignant protests from a Democratic member of the influential Senate Armed Services Committee—Stephen Young of Ohio, World War II veteran.

With two other committeemen,
Young made a comprehensive inspection tour of Viet Nam recently. They visited every major combat area and U.S. installations. Their survey covered every aspect of the Viet Nam conflict. Immediately after Young's return to Washington, he wrote the following identical letters to the President and Secretary McNamara:

Asks Monthly Report

"In my judgment it has been a mistaken policy to fail to report accurately the total number of men of our armed forces killed, wounded and missing, or taken prisoner.

"Months ago figures were made public. Recently the total of our combat losses sustained has been kept from the American people. Am urgently requesting that you reverse this present policy, and that, commencing Nov. 1 and each month thereafter, you release to the public figures on those casualties—killed, wounded and missing—during the preceding month."

Educational Study and the New University

There were two educational announcements last week which have a direct bearing upon the new university to be established in this area and its possible location.

For future planning purposes a poll was taken of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin at Madison as to their thinking on the future development of the institution. One question related to the size of the institution, and a large majority of those replying stated their opinion that the university at Madison should not be allowed to grow much larger if that could be accomplished. This is certainly in line with current educational philosophy in Wisconsin that university facilities should be spread more widely about the state and specifically that the establishment of two new universities in northeastern and southeastern Wisconsin will better serve the students and at a more reasonable cost.

At the same time officials of Oshkosh State University revealed statistics showing where the tremendous growth in enrollment at the largest institution in the state university system is coming from. The figures revealed that the growth is a reflection of the fact that OSU is drawing students from all across the eastern half of the state. In fact the greatest growth in numbers came from Milwaukee County. And the highest percentage increases came from Racine and Dane Counties. Total enrollment at OSU this fall is 7,133, up 33 per cent from last year.

It is now obvious that OSU has reached the stature in the higher educational system of the state that it is serving a statewide area rather than merely the locality in which it is located.

In the early discussions about the location of the new Northeastern University there was an initial assumption that it should be separated geographically from OSU. But as studies of the question become more intensive it is becoming evident that this is not a consideration of any real significance.

The important factor is that the new institution be fitted by purpose and structure into the higher educational system of the state so that it provides further diversity and therefore additional educational opportunities.

The regents of the university have expressed the opinion that it should be mainly a commuter school, serving students who for one reason or another are not able to attend college away from home. With this we heartily agree. But if this be true then geographic separation from OSU is not important in the light of the new role which OSU is assuming.

The new university should be put in a central location where it will serve within commuter range the largest possible number of students in the growth area of northeastern Wisconsin.

A Modest Suggestion

While the United Nations is scrounging for voluntary pledges of something like $200 million for what it expects will be its 1966 expenses, the delegate from France came up with a stunning suggestion. Why not review the various programs and find out where cuts can be made? asked Roger Seydoux.

Monsieur Seydoux says the United Nations is wasting money, particularly in its enthusiasm for authorizing studies that bring no action and on various international conferences that seem to be little more than social events. In an address to the General Assembly's budgetary committee, Mr. Seydoux himself asked for a study but this one aimed at discovering duplications and useless meetings. He cited Article 17 of the U. N. Charter as providing that the General Assembly should "examine and approve" the budgets of all agencies, something which has been casually overlooked. His plan calls for the appointment of a committee of twelve "highly qualified government experts" from countries named by the Secretary General "on an equitable geographical basis."

The French delegate did not himself estimate exactly the cost of such a new committee, and government philosophies being what they are, it is likely that the committee would also get involved in both duplication and useless meetings. More likely France is attempting to find a way to get back in the good graces of the U. N. and find a way to pay some assessments with honor. Nevertheless the suggestion points up the big weakness in such a vast organization when controls are established only vaguely.

So far almost $148 million has been pledged by member countries to pay the 1966 costs of the United Nations Special Fund and the program of technical assistance. There is already under way another study as to the feasibility of merging the two programs in order to save money and to make the programs more effective. Some pledges have been made conditional upon the merger, certainly an effort to dictate beyond representation. France's suggestion for the economy study also comes under this heading as Seydoux said that France would not refuse support, as she has for some agencies in the past, if the U. N. finances were put on a healthier basis.

As long as the United Nations must operate in this voluntary manner — and we see no evidence of any changes for some time to come — about the only way changes can be effected is through the threat of withholding. Since denying the right to vote in the General Assembly is not to be invoked against those who have not paid their assessments, the U. N. has little except persuasion to use in trying to get the funds from nations which don't agree with policies. Obviously this is anything but democratic but it at least serves to balance the inequality of an organization with one vote per country regardless of population or economic prosperity.

Prodding Needed

India is the major recipient of surplus food stocks from the United States, particularly wheat, although the country also gets large amounts of corn, rice and vegetable oils. But India's major planning resources have been to increase industrial output rather than encourage the wise use of land by the Indian farmers.

In a short talk when he signed the foreign aid bill last month, President Johnson said that the United States aid to various countries should not "become an international dole." It is true that we have extensive agricultural surpluses and of course are capable of raising a great deal more. But there is a growing opinion among Washington officials that continued open-handed giving encourages recipient countries to rely upon the permanence of such a policy and to evade their own responsibilities.

Actually the United States food agreement with India expired last June and has since been renewed only on a monthly basis. The Indians are annoyed. They charge that the policy has been adopted as a pressure move to make the Indians settle the Kashmir dispute by a plebiscite. But they are trying to avoid looking at their own failures to increase agricultural production.

Seed stocks have not been utilized nor suggestions followed as to irrigation and fertilization. Certainly one area in which most foreign countries should take advice from the United States is in the field of increasing farm production. A little more publicity that about one American wheat farmer out of five is growing wheat for India might bring the message home.

Shall We Pay Rebel Debt? — Motor

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Nov. 9, 1865.

One of two things would inevitably happen if, by the timidity or folly of the people, the false Democracy were restored to power in the Northern States sufficiently to give them, when reunited with the re-constructed rebels of the South, a controlling voice in national government.

Either the national debt would be repudiated or the rebel debt would be added to it. The latter would be the most likely measure adopted. Have not the people seen the servility of Democrat leaders in the past? Do they believe that those men would refuse any demand the South might make upon them as the price of their continued adherence to the party?

Send enough men to Congress like Vallandigham, Cox, Voorhees and Eldridge, to make a majority with the Southern members and no one should doubt their readiness to vote for a bill to add the rebel debt to your own and to make compensation for the loss of slaves to Southern leaders!

The tone of Democratic leaders and of their prominent presses is already significant on this subject.

Why Don't Protesting Students Stick to Their Job of Studying?

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Having just read the letter from Mr. Nordlander in the October 31 Post-Crescent, I feel a reply is in order for the digestion of your readers. I question the concern for our G.I.s in Viet Nam by those so-called well informed demonstrators who see fit to donate blood to, and in general give comfort to the Viet Cong through their actions here in the United States. I find it hard to believe that these so-called well-informed, mature people can at the same time condone the actions of the Viet Cong and condemn those of Americans.

Mr. Nordlander asks why these demonstrators have been dismissed as immature. On the contrary, they have not been dismissed at all. This is testified to by the fact that they gained front page coverage with such antics as draft card burnings and ridiculous slogans such as "Victory for the Viet Cong" and "Profits Equal Murder." This is maturity? Recently, counter groups have been receiving the very same coverage through constructive methods such as letter writing to our men in Viet Nam. I ask Mr. Nordlander, why not give our G.I.'s encouragement instead of a slap in the face?

Mr. Nordlander states that everyone is promoting hatred against a 'tribe' that has forsaken capitalism. Just when did South Viet Nam do away with it? If Mr. Nordlander will turn his attention to Red China he will find that they have done little else but promote

Question of Proper Pay for Legislators Is Troublesome One

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There is no more nagging topic in state politics than the recurring dispute about what is a legitimate level of compensation for the men and women elected to the state legislature.

Wyngaard

The other day Assemblyman Curtis McKay of Ozaukee County, one of the most persistent champions of lost causes, reintroduced the issue with a proposal that a committee of academic political scientists be commissioned to study the question and to return an objective, thorough report with recommendations that would dispose of the argument finally. The objection was promptly raised that men working on the public payroll, as teachers in state universities concerned about legislative good will in such matters as salary raises and general budget appropriations, should not be asked to compromise themselves by making recommendations on such a sensitive subject. Thus it is apparent that the topic will be left hanging again, to turn up to fuel new arguments in another legislative term.

HOW?

How should the question be resolved? Most of the members of the present legislature, whatever they may say about it in public, are convinced that their own compensation has not kept pace with the rise in the expenditures of the state government in general.

Legislators now live and work more comfortably than did their predecessors. They have better office arrangements. They have expense accounts to cover their out-of-pocket disbursements during the more protracted deliberations in Madison. They have allowances for inevitable travel and other expenditures in their home districts, some of them huge districts as a result of reapportionment.

Yet it is a fair guess that the legislature's budget of expenditures has risen considerably less during the last 10 or 20 years than have the disbursements of other state departments and surely less than has the state government considered as a whole.

One difficulty in settling the question of proper pay for lawmakers is the fact that they under the law must make the decision, they are forced to work in the limelight, and whenever they take up the question they appear to be feathering their own nests. There is a curious intensity about the press coverage of such matters. A week ago, when the legislature was preparing to recess its fall session, there was more comment in some of the papers about the expiration of the legislative expense accounts than was given to some of the major substantive legislation that was being enacted or rejected.

PROBLEMS

There is also the tendency, among those who judge these matters to relate the present pay of $150 a month to some of the personalities involved.

It may be conceded that there are some legislators whose entitlement to their existing salaries is doubtful. The issue probably ought to be that the level of pay should be set to attract to those seats the kind of representatives the people should have.

Finally, the compensation question is always most difficult to resolve when pay levels are fixed by statute and must be amended in the bright light of day with publicity, political competition and other factors intervening. There is an illuminating contrast here with the pay practices of some of the more fortunate services, such as the University of Wisconsin. The campus has dozens of administrators who earn higher salaries, with complete tenure, than do the men holding the highest and most difficult offices in the state agencies.

Recently the university named a young man to a new executive position at a salary of $24,000 a year, or more than anybody in the state capitol departments can now hope to get even with a pay raise bill pending, without a single word of adverse comment. Its regents need not make a law to get such pay levels. They can act as they please within the budget available.

Strictly Personal

New York Is Really Sucker City of U. S.

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

During a sermon at the Community Church in New York last month, the Rev. Donald Harrington told his congregation that the city of New York "is running out of water, running out of air, running out of space, running out of beauty, running out of jobs, running out of money and credit, and running out of patience."

Harris

Most of this litany is true, and could be said with equal truth of most other American big cities. What is not true, at least of New York, is that the denizens are running out of patience. Sad to say, they are not; they are simply resigned.

It is incredible what the citizens of New York will put up with in the way of sleazy service, rude officialdom, impossible traffic, mismanagement of civic affairs, dirt, discomfort, and an expensive in living that threatens to take off for the stratosphere.

The richest city in America is nearly broke. Nobody but a madman would voluntarily drive a car into Manhattan. Hotel rooms are nearly impossible to get during convention weeks. Central Park can be used at night only with guard dogs. The air pollution is equal to smoking two packages of cigarettes every day.

The continuing flight to the suburbs has turned the core city into a bleak contrast of extremes — rich and poor, with a dwindling middle-class. The non-white population, which can least afford to pay taxes, grows larger, while the white population, most able to pay taxes, flees the city — thus increasing its expenses and diminishing its revenues at the same time.

Throughout all this, the people are passive — the most affluent, educated, sophisticated public in the country stands for abuses and erosions that would inflame the rustics of any hamlet in America. They put up with miserable schools, inadequate police protection, chaotic transportation, shockingly high prices, minimal living-space at maximum rentals, political mediocrity, and the probability of an explosion in Harlem that would make Watts, California, look like a Sunday school picnic.

This is the same city of immense private and corporate wealth, of the largest buildings, biggest budget, highest per capita income, and a mayor whose duties and responsibilities are second only to the President of the United States. New York is indeed running out of everything — except patience. It is the sucker city of America, where every year everybody gets less and less for more and more, and still jeers at the rest of the country as boobs.

Bridge Now Will Take the Pictures

They are talking about putting cameras on San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge to take pictures of the traffic. The plan submitted to bridge directors is for putting television cameras on the towers to keep an eye on the traffic and watch out for people who may be thinking of jumping off the bridge.

This would be a switch. The Golden Gate Bridge is one of the sights of San Francisco. It has had its picture taken many times. Now maybe the bridge is going to take pictures of the tourists as well as of the San Francisco area people who drive back and forth over the bridge.—Fort Worth Star Telegram.

Our Hardest Effort? Getting Some Quiet

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

More and more, people are being "rubbed together" in urban living as population grows.

Is the result to be pleasing, or frustrating?

The verdict will be terribly personal — 90 per cent of us will be living in cities, towns and suburbs within 35 years, some specialists predict.

With population growth, some foresee a megalopolis or continuous city stretching from Maine to Florida, another perhaps from Seattle to Mexico, another ringing the Great Lakes, others hugging the Mississippi and other major rivers.

Fourth of a Series

Urban living means convenience and jobs, theaters and museums and cultural centers, but it also means pockets of poverty, temper-shredding traffic jams, dirty air, crime, rising taxes and noise from all the grinding, whirling, popping, roaring machines and gadgets from jet planes to power mowers and electric shavers.

Many people feel with Dr. George Wald, Harvard University biologist, that "some of us are spending our greatest energy trying to achieve a little quiet. It's hard to cope with all the noise and dirt. We are surrounded by labor-saving devices, telephones, computers, and it's difficult to find time to be a thinking human being. There are so many nagging distractions . . ."

Background Music — a new service of Fox Cities Broadcasters, Inc., a division of WNAM, Inc., has its first client. Shown above is Mr. S. N. Pickard, President of the National Manufacturers Bank of Neenah signing the contract. Standing is Mr. Peter Bylow, Director of Marketing at NMB (left) and Don C. Wirth, General Manager of Fox Cities Broadcasters (right). NMB's customers will be introduced to the service on or about December 1, 1965.

Background music is fast sweeping the country, Wirth said. No telephone lines or tape equipment on the premises is used. A "special" frequency of WNAM's FM station is used to transmit the music. Conventional FM sets will not be able to "pick up" the Background music, Wirth stated.

public a better foundation for deciding about various alternative proposals, including their costs and their human effects.

Innovating ideas are not lacking to solve some problems.

There are proposals already for electric automatically controlled little cars to transport people from suburbs into cities . . . for pedestrian levels of malls in cities quite separate from traffic . . . for integrated travel to airports . . . for parks and designs providing more gaiety in public places" as one architect puts it.

And today industry is less dependent upon having nearby markets or resources. Industrial or business parks are beginning to appear.

Technology "broadens our range of choices, making it easier to do many things," says Dr. Aaron Fleisher, associate professor of urban and regional studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. "But a richness of choices itself can be confusing, making decisions difficult."

"Where and how we live are within our power to choose. We can do almost anything we want to. There can be different kinds of cities, just as there are different kinds of people," Dr. Fleisher says.

"Our cities could be marvelous," declares Dr. John Ely Burchard, dean emeritus of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at MIT. "We know how to get rid of the noise and dirt. There are no technical problems in making cities better, except perhaps for solving our traffic problems."

"But many things need to be done manually, and people are either not willing to do them, or to pay for having them done. Our problems are more political, economic and psychological," Dean Burchard thinks.

The coming changes, he adds, "must be what people will like, not 'what is good for them,' and we need the interests of the people in bringing about the improvements."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A University of Florida professor says iodine may one day be used to disinfect the world's drinking water.

"Tests show iodine costs half as much in treating swimming pool water as chlorine," said Dr. A. P. Black, professor of sanitary science. He told the Florida section of the American Water Works Association that more than 800 convicts in a Florida prison have been drinking iodine-treated water for two years without ill effects.

U.S. Planes Smash at Another Missile Site

day 30 miles south of Hanoi during another attack on a missile site.

Rescue helicopters picked up 5 of the 11 airmen whose craft went down in Red territory.

New Troops
In the south, paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne met what was described as a main force of Viet Cong dressed in gray fatigue-like uniforms never seen before in South Viet Nam. The action was in Zone D, the Communist iron triangle 25 miles north of Saigon.

Brig. Gen. Ellis Williamson, the brigade commander, reported the paratroopers counted 110 Viet Cong dead and "they're not through counting."

U.S. casualties in the fight 15 miles north of Bien Hoa were described as moderate. For security reasons, American casualties are not given in numbers.

The paratroopers came upon the Viet Cong force while on a search and sweep operation that started several days ago. They found what U.S. officers described as a well-fortified jungle position.

Main Force
"The enemy remained in position and kept firing," Williamson said. "We have had a real close-at-hand, jungle-type fight. There is no question but that this was a main force outfit."

He said the Communists were equipped with Rucksack-type packs and wore steel helmets, usually the Viet Cong are dressed in black pajamas and do not wear steel helmets.

"The enemy made every effort to strip all of the bodies of everything, including identification, and all usable equipment," Williamson said.

Another sharp ground action was reported 135 miles east of Saigon, where 500 Viet Cong overran a hamlet. The defenders suffered heavy losses. The government force later regained the hamlet with help from U.S. air strikes.

Another Development
In another development, a U.S. spokesman disclosed that U.S. Marine planes accidentally bombed a friendly village Sunday, killing one woman and injuring 10 other persons. The bombing was due to a mistake in target data—one similar to the incident last week in which U.S. Air Force planes bombed a friendly village after receiving incorrect map coordinates from the Vietnamese.

Intelligence reports from Plei Me indicated more than half of the 500 Communist troops who engaged U.S. 1st Cavalry troops in a bitter weekend battle were either killed or wounded. The Americans also took heavy losses in the savage fighting 8 miles west of the Special Forces camp at Plei Me.

A U.S. spokesman said 71 Viet Cong were known dead and an additional 200 were believed to have been killed or wounded. About 1,500 cavalymen searched today for remnants of the enemy unit, but no contact was reported. It was believed the Communist troops had broken up into smaller groups and dispersed into the jungle near the Cambodian border.

11 Captured
The spokesman said one of 11 Communists captured in the fight claimed he was an officer in a North Vietnamese unit.

The story of the five lost planes—as related by an official spokesman—began Friday when a group of F105 Thunderchiefs raided a missile site about 20 miles north of the North Vietnamese city of Thanh Hoa.

The lead plane was hit by a missile, apparently from the intended target, and the plane plunged down near the missile site. There was a low overcast and no parachute was sighted.

On Saturday, a U.S. Air Force Skyraider flying rescue cover in the same area was shot down by conventional ground fire. A parachute was seen and a ground signal was received, but the pilot has not been rescued.

Copter Hit
A few hours later an Air Force helicopter taking part in the same search and rescue operation was hit and knocked down. The four men aboard the helicopter parachuted and one, the flight mechanic, was picked up. He suffered minor burns. The other three men aboard the helicopter are listed as missing.

Later in the afternoon a second Skyraider was hit by conventional groundfire. No parachute was observed and there was no radio contact from the ground.

Sunday a Navy helicopter taking part in the rescue operation was forced down by ground fire. The pilot managed to take the damaged chopper down on top of a mountain and all four crewmen were picked up later by other rescue helicopters.

Thanh Hoa is about 100 miles south of the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi.

45 Planes
Attacks by 45 U.S. Air Force planes Sunday destroyed two surface-to-air missile sites, a key railroad bridge and a missile support facility, a U.S. spokesman said. The bridge and support facility were also wiped out.

One of the raids was only 22 miles from Hanoi, the closest attack to the capital so far, the spokesman said. Navy A4 Skyhawk pilots reported heavily damaging three other Soviet-built missile sites north of Thanh Hoa, about 180 miles north of the border between North and South Viet Nam.

U.S. forces now have reported destroying five missile installations in North Viet Nam and damaging seven others since July 27.

U.S. officials have given little information on the number of missile launchers detected in North Viet Nam, reporting only that five permanent sites have been observed ringing Hanoi, and a number of mobile units have been observed at various points.

Fixed Mobile
The spokesman said it was not known if the sites hit Sunday were mobile or fixed installations. All targets of previous raids have been mobile units.

One plane was shot down by conventional ground fire during the raids Sunday, but the pilot was picked up 20 miles off the coast. He was reported in good condition.

Six U.S. planes have been downed by missiles since June. In the ground war, U.S. 1st Cavalry troops, outnumbered 2 to 1, scattered a big enemy force in savage fighting 8 miles west of the Plei Me Special Forces camp in the central highlands.

U.S. officers expressed belief the enemy was a regular force of the North Vietnamese army. American officials reported last week that five regiments of that army were in South Viet Nam, most of them in the central highlands.

U.S. officials said about five companies of Communist troops were involved in the battle against two companies of air cavalymen.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, flew to Seoul, South Korea for a four-day official visit.

Ky In Korea
It is Ky's third trip abroad in search of help for the campaign against Communism in Asia.

South Korea now has a 15,000-man combat division in South Viet Nam plus 2,600 men in signed to make the rhythm medical and engineering units.

The North Vietnamese continued to make propaganda out of the suicide of Norman R. Morrison, the U.S. pacifist who burned himself to death outside the Pentagon a week ago to protest U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Radio Hanoi said the North Viet Nam Women's Union had written Morrison's wife that her husband's action was "a great encouragement to our people's resistance against U.S. aggression."

The political arm of the Viet they inhibit ovulation through direct sterilization," Father O'Hare said.

"This new drug, assuming it does what scientists say it does, guarantees a regulated ovulatory cycle—and this is not sterilization at all."

First Airlift of Christmas packages, authorized under a new law signed last week by President Johnson, is readied at San Francisco International Airport for shipment to U.S. military personnel in Viet Nam. Some of the three tons of parcels were checked by, from left, Maj. V. E. Ruble of San Francisco Military Mail terminal; Kay Hoover, Pan Am cargo clerk; postal official Gordon Michael, and Lt. E. P. Christian of the fleet post office, San Francisco. Sender pays only surface rate to San Francisco for the air lift, but parcels are limited to five pounds. Mail previously was sent by ship. (AP Wirephoto) achievement and fulfillment for the nation, it is the path to a society that is not only free but civilized; and for the world, it is the path to peace—for it is education that places reason over force.

Tiny Room
"As a student, I lived in a tiny room above a garage. I shaved and showered in a gymnasium down the road. I worked at a dozen jobs. Sometimes I wondered what the next day would bring that could exceed the hardship of this one."

"But with all of that, I was one of the lucky ones—and I knew it even then."

"I made up my mind then that this nation could never rest while the door to knowledge remained closed to any American child."

Under the corps program, teams of teachers and recent graduates would try to improve educational opportunities for children in poverty areas. The corps would start with about 6,000 members. They would be paid with federal funds and serve in an area only at the request of local school officials. The college scholarships are expected to average $500, running from $200 to $800 with a $1,000 ceiling allowed for a student in the upper half of his class in the preceding year.

Student Loans
The program also provides low interest loans for students, funds to improve college libraries, grants to aid small and newly developing colleges, increased grants for building college classrooms and grants for audio-visual equipment and other teaching aids.

This was the second education measure Johnson brought to Texas for signing. Last April 11, he signed a $1.3-billion elementary and secondary school bill.

Russell, who was graduated from Northwestern in 1911, gave at the one-room school near his ranch where his formal education began.

For the second straight Sunday, Johnson and his wife did not go to services in one of the neighboring churches. Instead they invited Ray Akin, lay minister of the First Christian Church of Johnson City to conduct a private worship service at the ranch.

Aides said Johnson is taking North-life pretty easy while making the 17-nation disarmament committee. The negotiators are expected to reconvene in Geneva after the first of the year.

U.N. Calls for Nuclear Ban

Political Committee Of World Group Approves Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly's main political committee approved today a resolution calling on the disarmament negotiators in Geneva to negotiate quickly a treaty to ban the further spread of nuclear weapons.

By a vote of 83 to 0 with 6 abstentions, the committee adopted a compromise resolution on the top disarmament issues at this session of the U.N. General Assembly.

France was the lone big power among the abstainers. It has consistently boycotted the negotiations in Geneva.

The resolution sought to bridge the conflicting stands of the United States and the Soviet Union, which have offered draft treaties on the issue to the General Assembly.

Soviet Draft
The chief point of difference is that the Soviet draft would block the proposed multilateral nuclear force or similar arrangements contemplated by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, while the U.S. draft would not.

The compromise resolution was submitted by the eight non-aligned nations which take part in the Geneva negotiations of the 17-nation disarmament committee. The negotiators are expected to reconvene in Geneva after the first of the year.

Old Grad Gives Birthday Gifts To Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—T. C. Russell, a Chicago businessman, gave Northwestern University $200,000 today in commemoration of his 78th birthday.

Russell, who was graduated from Northwestern in 1911, gave at the one-room school near his ranch where his formal education began.

New Drug Seen As Acceptable For Birth Control

BOSTON (AP)—A professor of moral theology at St. John's Seminary says a new drug designed to make the rhythm method of birth control more precise is consistent with teachings of the Roman Catholic Church.

"If the drug does what physicians claim it will do," the Rev. Francis C. O'Hare said Sunday in an interview, its use would be "morally acceptable."

The drug, clomiphene citrate, is still restricted to experimental use.

"The moral objection to the so-called birth control pills developed in the past is that they inhibit ovulation through direct sterilization," Father O'Hare said.

"This new drug, assuming it does what scientists say it does, guarantees a regulated ovulatory cycle—and this is not sterilization at all."

Surprising medical facts about tension indigestion

Tests at a famous medical center show how one special formula beats even prescription-type products in fighting excess stomach acid, the cause of tension indigestion. This special formula is not an expensive drug, not difficult to get, but found in today's TUMS®. Stomach specialists know TUMS is the more candy mint. In tests, today's TUMS fought stomach acid faster, more completely than even a prescription-type antacid costing six times as much. It is the medicine for tension indigestion, TUMS.
